Would-Be Developers Of City Hall Plaza Lose Default Deposit

KINGSTON — The urban renewal agency has officially given up on the would-be developer of City Hall Plaza in Broadway East, notifying the Merrick Company of Long Island on Monday that it was in default on its agreement with the agency for failure to carry out its plans for a major shopping plaza as approved by the agency on April 5 of this year.

Robert Mezam and Joseph Flotteron, principals in the Merrick Company, who came to Kingston in March of 1972 with plans for a two-million dollar shopping center off Broadway below Meadow Street, have 30 days to honor the construction agreement. "It doesn't look like they'll make it," James G. Connors, urban renewal director said. The Merrick Company will thus forfeit the $2,500 deposit it put down on the five-acre parcel some 17 months ago. The money will be deposited in the agency's general accounts.

Connors expressed disappointment that Mezam and Flotteron couldn't follow through on their plans for what was called City Hall Plaza. "We gave them every opportunity," he said, up to and including a series of "informal extensions" of deadlines. The original agreement was signed between the agency and Merrick in April of last year. It provided for the submission of final plans by the developer within 60 days after that. The developer met that deadline.

The agreement also called for submission of proof of financing for the project within 30 days after approval of the plans. The agency apparently provided the "informal extensions" by holding off approval of the plans until April of this year. "It was the only thing we had going down there," Connors explained. "We wanted to give them every chance."

Time apparently ran out for Merrick between the time the Common Council approved the construction of a Grand Union supermarket at Broadway and Orchard Street (about a half mile from the city hall Plaza site) on Aug. 7 and the time Mayor Francis R. Koenig signed that legislation on Aug. 12. Koenig, who had once vetoed the Grand Union legislation (in April of 1972) because he felt it would be detrimental to the development of City Hall Plaza, was notified by Merrick on Aug. 10 that the firm could not arrange the necessary financing for the project.

At the time Koenig "regretfully" signed the Grand Union legislation, he said that plans for City Hall Plaza would undergo "a complete review and possible revision."

But the agency, according to Connors, while writing off the Merrick Company, has not rejected its idea for a neighborhood shopping plaza in Broadway East, at least not for the immediate future.

"We'll have to come up with some ideas to save the thing," Connors said. "We've got some time to work on it. We can't build anything down there until next spring, anyway."

Right now, Connors thinks that "something" will be pretty much the same thing Merrick envisioned but was unable to bring to fruition over a 17-month period. "Things are starting to look pretty good down there," he said. "We've got the city hall and the fire station and the UDC complex is starting to fill up and we'll have the (Hadler) nursing home and the Freeman building in construction next spring."

"We'll have more visual development underway. That all has a tendency to spread. We've got enough now to support a neighborhood center."

Connors also suggested that "maybe the state will give us some good news this winter on the arterial, at least that section between Meadow and Murray Street."

Agnew 'Fighting', Not Resigning

White House Pressure Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) — A source close to Vice President Spiro T. Agnew said today the White House apparently was behind the report that Agnew has discussed resigning. He said the vice president will "fight" rather than step down.

The source, who declined to speak for attribution, said there were "indications that it's coming from people over at the White House." He referred to a Washington Post report Tuesday morning quoting an unnamed "senior Republican" as being "99½ per cent certain" Agnew would resign.

"It just isn't true," the Agnew associate said. "He's talked to a number of senators and congressmen about what he ought to do, and the unanimous feeling is to fight, and that's what he intends to do. There's never been any question in my mind of his resolve to fight this thing."

Agnew's press secretary, J. Marsh Thomson, said Tuesday that the vice president may have discussed resigning with others while in "a dark mood," but does not intend to do so.

"Whoever it (the 'senior Republican') was, it was probably somebody who in all sincerity overread a mood," Thomson said. "... The vice president was throwing out a possibility ... asking a friend 'What do you think?'"

To quit would "imply guilt," Thomson said. "He's not a quitter. What would he do without a base of power? It would be a foolish move from one who is determined to win."

A leading Agnew sat at the head table with President Nixon and Pakistan Prime Minister Zulfikar Ali Bhutto at a state dinner Tuesday night. But when reporters several times during the evening alleged involvement as Jay H. Topkis of New York City told a UPI newsmen that

"the vice president has said he is not resigning and that's it." Asked if he could be quoted directly, Topkis responded "I don't see the necessity, but sure, why not?"

He said he would not elaborate or comment further on the Agnew situation.

Reports published earlier said sources had told newsmen that the vice president was considering resigning in view of an alleged scandal in Maryland, where Agnew served as a county executive and governor before being elected to the vice presidency.

Topkis was in the capital city to argue a case before the state's Court of Appeals. The case was not related to Agnew.

It was the second time in three weeks that a possible Agnew resignation was reported. On Sept. 1, he was said to have discussed the subject with President Nixon, but both Agnew's staff and the White House denied that the subject came up in their 2½ hour meeting.

Aides to Agnew blamed the latest report on what one called a "bad overreading of something Agnew might have toyed with" in talking with the unidentified GOP figure.

Thomson insisted that the vice president had no plan to quit but rather was planning to see through to the end the federal inquiry in which he is under investigation for possible bribery, extortion and tax evasion law violations.

Counterbugging Expert To Be Watergate Witness

WASHINGTON (AP) — Counterbugging expert John Ragan, who has been called as a surprise witness in the Senate Watergate hearings, worked simultaneously for the Republican party and International Telephone & Telegraph Corp.

Ragan worked as a $100-a-day security consultant for the Republican National Committee from 1969 until September 1971. He also was sent by ITT in early 1971 to assist the late Chilean President Salvador Allende. An ITT spokesman denied that Ragan's mission to Chile was related to his work at the Republican party.

Sen. Sam J. Ervin, chairman of the Watergate committee, announced Tuesday that Ragan would be one of the first witnesses when the panel's hearings resume Monday.

Also on the list are convicted Watergate wiretapper E. Howard Hunt Jr., White House speechwriter Patrick J. Buchanan and a previous witness, John J. Caulfield, who allegedly supervised undercover activities for the White House.

Ragan's name turned up once before in Watergate testimony. Ousted White House Counsel John W. Dean III mentioned Ragan as having reportedly helped wiretap the home of columnist Joseph Kraft.

Reached by telephone at his home in Massapequa, N.Y., Ragan said he had undertaken a "feasibility study" at Kraft's home in 1969. But he denied involvement in any bugging.

There was no tap, he said. Three sources close to the committee also said that Ragan would be questioned about President Nixon's alleged wiretapping of his brother, F. Donald Nixon. But Ragan said he knows nothing about that.

Ragan said he has been interviewed by the committee's investigators three times and has told them he has little information to offer.

Ragan, 59, worked for the FBI for 24 years before retiring in 1964. He said his last 11 years were spent in "technical matters," meaning electronic surveillance and bugging. He now works as a private security consultant, specializing in anti-bugging measures.

Ragan said that his trip to Chile was in April and May of 1971, four months before he ended his ties to the Republican party.

An ITT spokesman in New York said Ragan was hired for the job after Allende, suspected of being a communist, was tapped, asked the ITT-owned national telephone company for help.

Ragan said the Watergate committee investigators were skeptical that ITT would be helping Allende, whose government the firm opposed. "They just couldn't believe it," he said.

FDR Son Denies Accusation

WASHINGTON (AP) — A convicted stock swindler says Elliott Roosevelt and a reputed big-time gambler offered him $100,000 to assassinate the Bahamian prime minister.

Roosevelt, son of former President Franklin D. Roosevelt and once mayor of Miami Beach, Fla., called the allegation "an utter and complete fabrication."

Louis P. Mastriana told the Senate permanent subcommittee on investigations Tuesday that the assassination contract was offered because Prime Minister Lynden O. Pindling allegedly failed to grant a gambling license to Michael McLaney.

Mastriana said he had had himself adjudicated insane purportedly "so I could do anything." Later, he said, "I was examined by government psychiatrists who found me to be of sound mind and 'legally competent'."

Mastriana testified that McLaney, who was convicted in 1971 of a securities violation, gave $1 million to Pindling for a 1968 political campaign. In return, Mastriana said, McLaney was to receive a gambling license in the Bahamas.

"But he didn't deliver," Mastriana said of the Bahamian prime minister. "They came to me and offered me $100,000 to kill, to whack (Pindling)," said Mastriana.

Mastriana identified "they" as Roosevelt and McLaney.

he said he had worked for at that time "in an undercover capacity."

A U.S. Postal Service spokesman said there would be no comment on the allegation until a check of the files is completed.

Committee chief counsel Howard Feldman said the committee would attempt to interview Roosevelt at his Lisbon home.

Mastriana said he was paid $10,000 immediately. He said he got $2,500 in a check from McLaney to Roosevelt.

A committee staff member produced a photostatic copy of a check for that amount signed by McLaney and Roosevelt. The committee member said the check had been endorsed by Roosevelt over to Mastriana.

Mastriana said there was no assassination attempt made, because he said he feared he would be unable to escape from the island nation.

Mastriana said he had a concealed recording device on his body and had taped his conversations with Roosevelt. He said the equipment was furnished by the U.S. Postal Service, which

One of Sextuplets Dies

DENVER (UPI) — Julie, most common killer of children, born prematurely. The child infant sextuplet who vainly battled blood and breathing problems, died Tuesday night of a disease common to premature babies. The condition of her only sister and a brother worsened today but the health of the three other boys appeared improved.

Dr. Tibor Engel, the family obstetrician, said the parents were "saddened but very calm. Both have taken the news with calm and dignity."

Julia died of hyaline membrane disease, an inflammation of the membrane that lines the lungs and filters air into the bloodstream. The disease is the most common killer of children, born prematurely. The child infant sextuplet who vainly battled blood and breathing problems, died Tuesday night of a disease common to premature babies. The condition of her only sister and a brother worsened today but the health of the three other boys appeared improved.

Dr. Darrell Miller said Julia's sister, Catherine, was in fair to poor condition. She was placed in a respirator late Tuesday night. The only child with no name, a boy, also was in fair to poor condition and was receiving 100 per cent oxygen through a breathing apparatus.

Miller said John and Jeff are in good condition, "in fact, very fine. They are breathing on their own and receiving some of their mother's milk."

The fourth boy, Stephen, was in fair condition but improving, Miller said. "His oxygen requirement is decreasing."

Stephen, Catherine and the fourth boy also have hyaline membrane disease.

Julia's death ended the possibility, once considered excellent, that the Stanek sextuplets would be the first born in this century to survive.

A hospital spokesman said the child's mother "seemed stoic" but attending physicians "were pretty shook up."

Julia's health began deteriorating around noon Tuesday and she died seven and a half hours later.

At 1 p.m., Dr. James Strain, the infant's pediatrician, announced the child's vital signs had become unsteady and a blood ailment had developed. She was given transfusions. She developed a severe breathing problem and had to be placed in a respirator, without which she was not able to breathe.

"Her blood oxygen level steadily decreased," Dr. Miller said. "The blood would not clot due to the low oxygen content and the poor flow through her body. One blood transfusion exchange was done early in the afternoon. A second was done later. Her heart rate steadily decreased and all resuscitation efforts were unsuccessful."

Striking Newburgh Teachers Summoned to Court

NEWBURGH Although striking members of the Newburgh Teachers Association continued to walk the picket lines today in front of the city's 19 schools, most of the attention was focused on State Supreme Court in Goshen, as legal maneuvers began in an effort to end the three-day walkout.

Newburgh teachers, who struck on Monday, were scheduled to answer a show cause order in Supreme Court today. A temporary restraining order had been issued barring the strike, but teachers ignored the court order when they walked out on Monday. They were required to show cause today why a permanent restraining order should not be issued.

By striking in violation of the state's Taylor Law, the teachers could forfeit two days pay for every day of the strike, if they are found guilty. Superintendent of Schools John DiCesare said the district will ask for the maximum penalties against the striking teachers, but added that none will be fired for their actions this week.

Although most Newburgh teachers struck again today, the city's schools remained open. And there is still no indication that negotiations — which broke off early Monday morning — will resume.

The teachers' strike, however, apparently hasn't affected varsity football practice at Newburgh Free Academy. The team has continued practice throughout the week under the supervision of its coaches, and this Saturday's game against Kingston High School at Dietz Stadium will be held as scheduled. The scheduled junior varsity game, however, is in doubt.

Meanwhile, Newburgh's neighbors to the northeast — the teachers in the Wappingers Falls Central School District in Dutchess County — have reached a tentative agreement with their Board of Education. Wappingers Falls teachers had threatened to strike this week if an agreement wasn't reached by Monday.

The tentative settlement was announced early today, following a marathon 18-hour bargaining session between the two sides. But details of the proposed pact won't be released until the contract is ratified.

Meanwhile, some Catholic high schools in Brooklyn and Queens went on split sessions Tuesday and called in community volunteers to keep schools open for their 14,000 students during the second day of the strike by lay teachers.

Brother Medard Shea, a spokesman for the Catholic schools office said that there was a "slight improvement" in the situation and that the "student absenteeism was normal."

Members of the Lay Faculty Association, comprising two-thirds of the teaching staff in the eight Catholic schools, are asking for an annual pay hike of at least $800. No new negotiations have been held since the union voted to strike Sunday night.

Elsewhere, two-week-old teachers' strikes in the Westchester County towns of Greenburgh and Harrison kept local schools on half-session, while teachers in Yorktown Heights also struck for the second day.

Several Drug Arrests in Area

NEW PALTZ New Paltz Village Police arrested Fred Hyatte, 31, of Lake Mohonk Tuesday on a charge of criminal possession of a controlled substance in the second degree after a quantity of alleged marijuana and pills was observed in his possession. The charge carries with it a possible life sentence under the state's new drug laws.

Meanwhile, a Kingston woman and a Saugerties man were charged by Hurley State Police Tuesday with fifth degree criminal possession of a controlled substance (heroin) and Woodstock constables charged a Saugerties youth with felony possession of marijuana.

New Paltz police said the alleged drugs were observed in Hyatte's possession during questioning about a burglary at Trailways Bus Station in New Paltz early Tuesday. Some $200 in cash and other items were reported taken in the burglary, police said. Hyatte was not immediately charged in connection with the burglary, police said.

Arraigned before New Paltz Town Justice Rexford Schneider on the drug charge, Hyatte was confined in Ulster County Jail in lieu of $2,500 bail to await a re-appearance Friday.

Hurley State Police reported that Diane Freer, 21, of 56 Franklin Street, Kingston, and Lawrence Swingle, 20, of 31 Apple Tree Drive, Saugerties, were charged Tuesday with fifth degree possession of a controlled substance. According to police, Miss Freer had been brought to the Hurley barracks after being arrested on a charge of seventh degree possession of a controlled substance (marijuana) when the alleged substance was observed in her possession after being stopped for traffic violations in the Town of Ulster. Swingle, who police said is her friend, met her at the barracks and she was observed passing him something which later was found to be alleged heroin, police said.

The woman had also been arrested earlier in the day on a petit larceny charge, police said, and had been released after paying a fine of $50.

Arraigned before Hurley Town Justice C. H. DuMond, Miss Freer was confined in jail in lieu of $6,000 bail, and Swingle was confined in lieu of $5,000 bail. Both are scheduled to reappear in court Sept. 25.

In the Town of Woodstock, William Smith, 19, Saugerties, was charged Tuesday night by Woodstock Constables with criminal possession of a controlled substance in the sixth degree, a felony, after a quantity of alleged marijuana was observed in his possession. Police said Smith had been stopped while driving and was initially charged with driving while ability was impaired.

Arraigned before Woodstock Town Justice Kevin Sweeney, Smith was released on $250 bail pending a re-appearance Friday.

Massachusetts Hardest Hit

Many Service Stations Closing

By United Press International on gasoline prices. Hardest hit service stations around the state were Massachusetts where hundreds of stations shut down Tuesday.

They would close to protest the government's Phase IV freeze. An automobile club in Massachusetts said its survey showed about 50 per cent of the 4,000 stations in the state were closed. But it found no area where all the stations were closed.

Norfolk District Court Justice Vincent J. Brogna issued a temporary restraining order prohibiting owners from taking collective action to shut down their stations. State Attorney General Robert H. Quinn sought the injunction.

"An emergency situation exists and I cannot allow the public's health and safety to be endangered," Quinn said.

A group of Cape Cod independent station owners met Tuesday night in Hyannis and a spokesman said they agreed to join the boycott despite the court order. About 50 stations were expected to refuse to pump gas, although they would open to provide mechanics' duties, the spokesman said.

One leader of the boycott, John Bell of Lexington, said he would obey the court order and open today.

"I don't have any choice now. I have to open," Bell said.

The Massachusetts shutdown seemed to have the most support in greater Boston, Springfield and Worcester.

Elsewhere around the nation, more than 50 stations were reported closed in San Luis Obispo, Calif. Some stations posted signs reading "Closed. Protest Phase IV."

Members of the Oklahoma Independent Petroleum Retailers threatened to stage another shutdown if the Cost Of Living Council doesn't change its policy. The organization's members staged a four-day protest last week.

Sixty Mobil Oil dealers said in Syracuse, N.Y., they would close next Monday to protest a recent one-cent a gallon wholesale price hike.

In Kansas City, Mo., an official of the Mid-American Gasoline Dealers Association predicted more stations across the nation would close if the government doesn't relieve the cost-price squeeze.

"From the number of phone calls I've had in the last couple of days certainly a lot (of dealers) are planning to do it," said John Costello.

House Expected to Sustain Nixon's Minimum Wage Veto

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House is expected today to sustain President Nixon's veto of a bill increasing the minimum wage despite a determined effort by labor leaders to salvage the legislation.

House Democratic leaders vetoed in four previous efforts to muster the two-thirds majority needed to override a veto and a fifth effort failed in the Senate.

Now they are letting labor make the main fight.

George Meany, AFL-CIO president, has sent every House member a letter urging the veto be overridden and has called on all union local leaders to carry the message to their representatives in Congress. Many also sent the members a 12-page analysis of Nixon's veto message, rebutting it point by point and calling it "a collection of myth and distortion of fact."

Although the bill finally passed 287 to 130 last June, Republican and conservative Democratic opponents came within 20 votes of scrapping it for an administration-backed substitute.

In his veto message Nixon said the bill, which would raise the $1.60 an hour minimum to $2 this year and $2.20 next year, would increase unemployment and add to inflation.

The bill also would expand coverage of the minimum wage law by bringing five million state and local government employees and one million domestics under its protection.

Nixon has proposed a slower increase in the minimum — to $1.90 this year, $2.10 next year, $2.20 in 1975 and $2.30 in 1976, with no increase in coverage, and a lower rate for teenage workers.

The difficulty facing the labor lobbyists is mainly one of arithmetic. There are 192 Republicans in the House, and if all 435 members vote it only takes 146 to sustain a veto.

The House Republican Policy Committee, chief policy arm of the GOP leadership, overwhelmingly supported Nixon's position Tuesday and issued a statement urging the veto be sustained.

The statement said Republicans would support "a moderate and useful increase in the minimum wage."

Astronauts Take Time Out To Play Children's Games

HOUSTON (UPI) — Acting a little like children in a room full of new toys, the Skylab 2 astronauts took time from their busy research schedule Tuesday to practice sailing paper airplanes through their roomy space house and perform acrobatics in weightlessness.

Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma cut the games out of their flight plan today to take more photos of Earth and the sun and to start the last series of biomedical tests on themselves.

Lousma and Garriott added another segment to a television show for high school students Tuesday, showing how normal activities on the ground, like paper airplane flying, respond to zero gravity.

A space agency engineer,

Thomas Grubbs, a 1967 regional winner of "The Great Paper Airplane Flyoff," designed the plane with the help of his 10-year-old son, Tom Jr., for inclusion in the science demonstration.

"It wasn't intended to further knowledge of fixed wing flight," Grubbs said in an interview. "But it wasn't really as flippant as it sounds on the surface. It was part of a planned demonstration for high school students."

The astronauts also easily stood on top of each other's shoulders, their arms flapping at their sides, to show how easy acrobatics are when unhampered by gravity. Bean did a few armless pushups, with Garriott and Lousma lying on top of him, to emphasize the problem spacemen have in keeping their muscles in shape when they don't have to be used.

It wasn't all play for the space pilots Tuesday. Lousma and Garriott snapped more pictures of natural resources during their 35th data-gathering sweep, this time from El Paso, Tex., to Canada.

The information they collected was to be used by urban planners in the Midland-Odessa, Tex., area studying population shifts, agriculture scientists who want to learn more about the Oklahoma wheat crop, and geologists looking for possible hydrocarbon deposits in the Anadarko basin of Oklahoma.

Jury Still Being Picked In Bailey, Turner Trial

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UPI) — After a day of whispered consultations at the bench and closed door conferences in the judge's chambers, lawyers make another attempt today to find impartial jurors in the mail fraud case of attorney F. Lee Bailey and millionaire Glenn W. Turner.

U.S. District Judge Gerald B. Tjoflat frequently called veniremen to the bench for quiet interrogation Tuesday about what they knew about the famed Boston trial attorney and the supersalesman.

Although Bailey is serving as his own defense counsel, his former lawyer Theodore L. Koskoff still is helping the defense and it was Koskoff who made the only comment to newsmen after a day-long process of finding a jury Tuesday.

"It was amicable," was all Koskoff would say about the case, the meetings, and his own dismissal by Bailey.

The lawyers and principals are all under order by Tjoflat not to discuss the case. The "gag rule" has been strictly enforced.

In some well-publicized cases the presiding judge prefers to bring in jurors one, or three at a time, to question them without risk of prejudicing a large number of veniremen. But Tjoflat preferred to call certain prospective jurors to the bench for questioning, sometimes with laughter heard from the whispered discussions at the bench.

The judge has estimated the trial would last eight weeks, but the defense said it could be as long as six months, with 36,000 documents expected to be entered into evidence.

Bailey, Turner and six other men are charged with conspiring to use the mails fraudulently to promote Glenn Turner Enterprises, "Dare To Be Great," and Koscot Interplanetary, three of Turner's firms.

Maximum penalties are $1,000 fine or five years in jail on each count.

Long Island Area Is Hit by Tornado

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS — "I heard the wind roaring away landed against my south and roaring," recalls Nicholas Bruno. "It was raining hard. All of a sudden, I saw the front trees bend right over. The wind didn't subside, but began to build higher and higher and I realized something terrible was going on."

Bruno was describing how a freak tornado on Tuesday whirled through the area around his home in South Bellmore on Long Island.

"I started running downstairs and that's when we heard crashes of glass on the south side of the house and a Ping-Pong table from four blocks away landed against my south wall, all within about 30 seconds," said Bruno.

Tornadoes hit the South Bellmore area in Nassau County as well as the Calverton area of Suffolk County, uprooting trees, capsizing small boats, damaging automobiles, smashing windows and blowing shingles off roofs.

There were no injuries reported.

In Nassau, the tornado packing winds of 60 to 70 miles an hour left about 50 homes with out electric power for up to two hours.

State Opposing Federal Lowering of Air Quality Standards

WASHINGTON (UPI) — New York State will oppose a proposal by the Nixon administration that would lower the state's air quality standards to help ease the fuel oil shortage.

State Environmental Conservation Commissioner Henry L. Diamond will express the state's opposition at a White House meeting today with the President's energy advisor, John Love.

Love has proposed that air quality standards be relaxed to allow the burning of high sulphur content fuels because of the shortage of less polluting fuels.

The meeting will include governors or representatives from the 11 states most directly affected by the proposal.

"We think it's unwise to lower the standards," Diamond told reporters, "particularly in those areas where we are not meeting air quality levels."

"In New York City and parts of the Niagara frontier it is particularly bad," he said. "Low sulphur fuels should be allocated to us to meet the air standards."

"It might be ok to use them (higher polluting fuels) in areas where there is some margin," Diamond said. "But I hate to give them up."

Diamond was in Washington to meet with the state's congressional delegation on a new priority list of water pollution control projects.

He said meetings he held with federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) officials gave him "every indication" the state would soon be getting back some $1.1 billion in pre-financed projects when no federal funds were available. The federal government has owed the state the money for the past seven years.

"In this period of time we have received only $413 million in federal aid and have been forced to pre-finance $1.1 billion more that was promised but not allocated," Diamond said.

"Now that there is hope of getting it back, we believe this was a wise move, it not only got the water cleaned up faster, but it saved money since the inflation rate on these projects has gone up about one per cent a month."

From now on the state will be forced to go to a priority system for new sewer projects he said, because the federal government will no longer allow state pre-financing. Diamond announced the 29 projects that would be started in the coming year last month.

Diamond said a number of congressmen were disturbed because projects in their area were not on the list. The strongest complaint came from central New York lawmakers, who are unhappy because the $79 million Onondaga County project is 34th on the list and cannot be started this year.

The major projects on the list heretofore, $53 million for Tonawanda, $50 million for Saratoga County and $37 million for Niagara County.

Albany Police Probe Continues

ALBANY, N.Y. (UPI) — The state investigation commission's hearing into alleged corruption in the Albany Police Department moved into its second day today with a parade of witnesses primed to testify about alleged police burglaries, payoffs from prostitutes and gamblers and laxity in the high command. The public sessions opened Tuesday with the SIC's chief counsel, Joseph Fisch, saying he would attempt to prove that police officers on the city's 300-man force took payoffs and also operated burglary rings.

City officials, led by eight-term Mayor Erastus Corning, have said any unsubstantiated charges by the SIC would be countered. Corning, who originally sought the investigation, has said he wants to establish the truth.

Most of the testimony Tuesday centered around alleged burglaries in 1964 and 1968 at a tire company and a trucking firm in which police officers allegedly took part and higher officials either covered up or failed to press for further action.

One witness, former Albany police Sgt. John Dittmer, who resigned in December 1969, just one day after he was allegedly involved in the burglary of the truck, refused to answer virtually all of the questions put to him by Fisch.

Fisch continued to grill Dittmer by reading excerpts from Dittmer's testimony given at a private SIC hearing in New York City last March. Asked repeatedly if he had given the testimony, Dittmer would reply in a quiet voice "evidently, if it says so in the record."

According to the private testimony cited by Fisch, Dittmer admitted entering a tractor-trailer with another police officer while a third officer remained outside. The police took packages from the truck and put them in a patrol car, then continued on patrol.

The next day, Dittmer allegedly said in his private testimony, then Deputy Chief Edward McArdle told him the other officers had resigned and demanded his resignation. Dittmer said McArdle, who is now chief, told him that if he would resign and return the merchandise, which was not identified, there would be no prosecution.

The incident apparently came to light because the truck firm owner had the vehicle under observation.

Acting SIC Chairman Edward S. Silver warned Dittmer several times that he could be held in contempt for failing to answer commission questions.

Schoharie Sheriff Indicted

SCHOHARIE, N.Y. (UPI) — Eleven indictments, charging crimes ranging from grand larceny to perjury against three members of the Schoharie County Sheriff's department, including the sheriff, were opened Tuesday in county court.

The sheriff, his acting chief deputy, and a deputy were named in bench warrants and surrendered to state police for arraignment on the charges. They were later released in their own recognizance.

The indictments had been handed up by the county grand jury Monday.

Sheriff John Goldswier, named on 44 counts contained in eight indictments, pleaded not guilty. He was accused of using inmates from the county jail to build his home and prepare election signs; charging a dollar for "free" ID cards and an extra dollar for pistol permits; for money for a deputies slush fund; and holding a gun to the head of a man and ordering him to leave town.

The charges against Goldswier, a Republican, include official misconduct in office, grand larceny, menacing, filing a false statement and violations of the correctional law.

Officials also said Goldswier, who does not wear a uniform, charged the county for a "uniform" and then purchased other clothing with the funds. He also reportedly failed to destroy several guns which had been confiscated from prisoners, and allegedly failed to see that hourly bed checks were made at the jail.

Acting Chief Deputy Donald Dahms of Charlotteville was charged with eight counts of official misconduct and offering a false instrument for filing. He allegedly worked with the inmates on the sheriff's home in Richmondville.

Deputy Floyd Schaeffer of Schoharie was named in two indictments charging him with perjury before the grand jury, eight counts of official misconduct, and failing to make an arrest. Schaeffer reportedly stopped a motorist for drunken driving, took his rifle, and let the driver go.

Dahms and Schaeffer did not offer pleas to the indictments at their arraignment.

All three were ordered to reappear in court Oct. 15. Court officials said, however, their trials would not likely begin before December.

Goldswier refused to resign his $8,500 post, saying he believed he would be vindicated of the charges.

The charges against Goldswier were brought by County Republican Chairman Dwight Lane. Lane said in a press conference in July he planned to seek action against the sheriff.

Goldswier was first elected in 1969 and re-elected last year. The indictments allege acts between 1970 and 1972.

Ratification Is Expected

DETROIT (UPI) — United Auto Workers officials said they hoped for a quick ratification by its members of a contract agreement reached Monday with Chrysler Corp., enabling the workers to be back in the auto plants by next Monday.

Ratification votes will come at the end of the week at the UAW's 69 Chrysler bargaining units in the United States and Canada.

The union's 210 member Chrysler council will meet in Detroit today for a ratification vote.

Union officials said once the Chrysler workers ratify, they would ask the other two major automakers, Ford and General Motors, for similar contract agreements.

Chrysler and UAW bargainers reached agreement on the new pact 63 hours after the union struck the nation's third largest automaker at midnight last Friday.

It was the shortest national strike in UAW history.

The new contract calls for installation of the 30-and-out retirement plan, an easing of the mandatory overtime rules and some extra money going into member paychecks.

Driver Killed In Greene Crash

CATSKILL — John D. Grab, 26, of Hudson was pronounced dead on arrival at Greene County Memorial Hospital Tuesday night after the car he was driving failed to negotiate a curve on Route 23A in the Town of Catskill and slammed into the rear of a tractor-trailer, Leeds State Police said.

Grab suffered massive head injuries in the crash, police said. The driver of the tractor-trailer, who was not reported injured, was identified as Paul Overbaugh, 24, of Catskill. The mishap occurred at about 9:45 p.m., according to police.

County Court House Ceremonies

35 Take the Oath as American Citizens

By LYNN MULVANEY

KINGSTON

"Freedom and liberty in the United States are at their greatest peaks and if you get a 'stirring in your spine when you hear the Star Spangled Banner' then you will appreciate your American citizenship," Supreme Court Justice John H. Pennock told the 35 foreign-born persons who became U.S. citizens Tuesday in naturalization ceremonies at the Ulster County Court House.

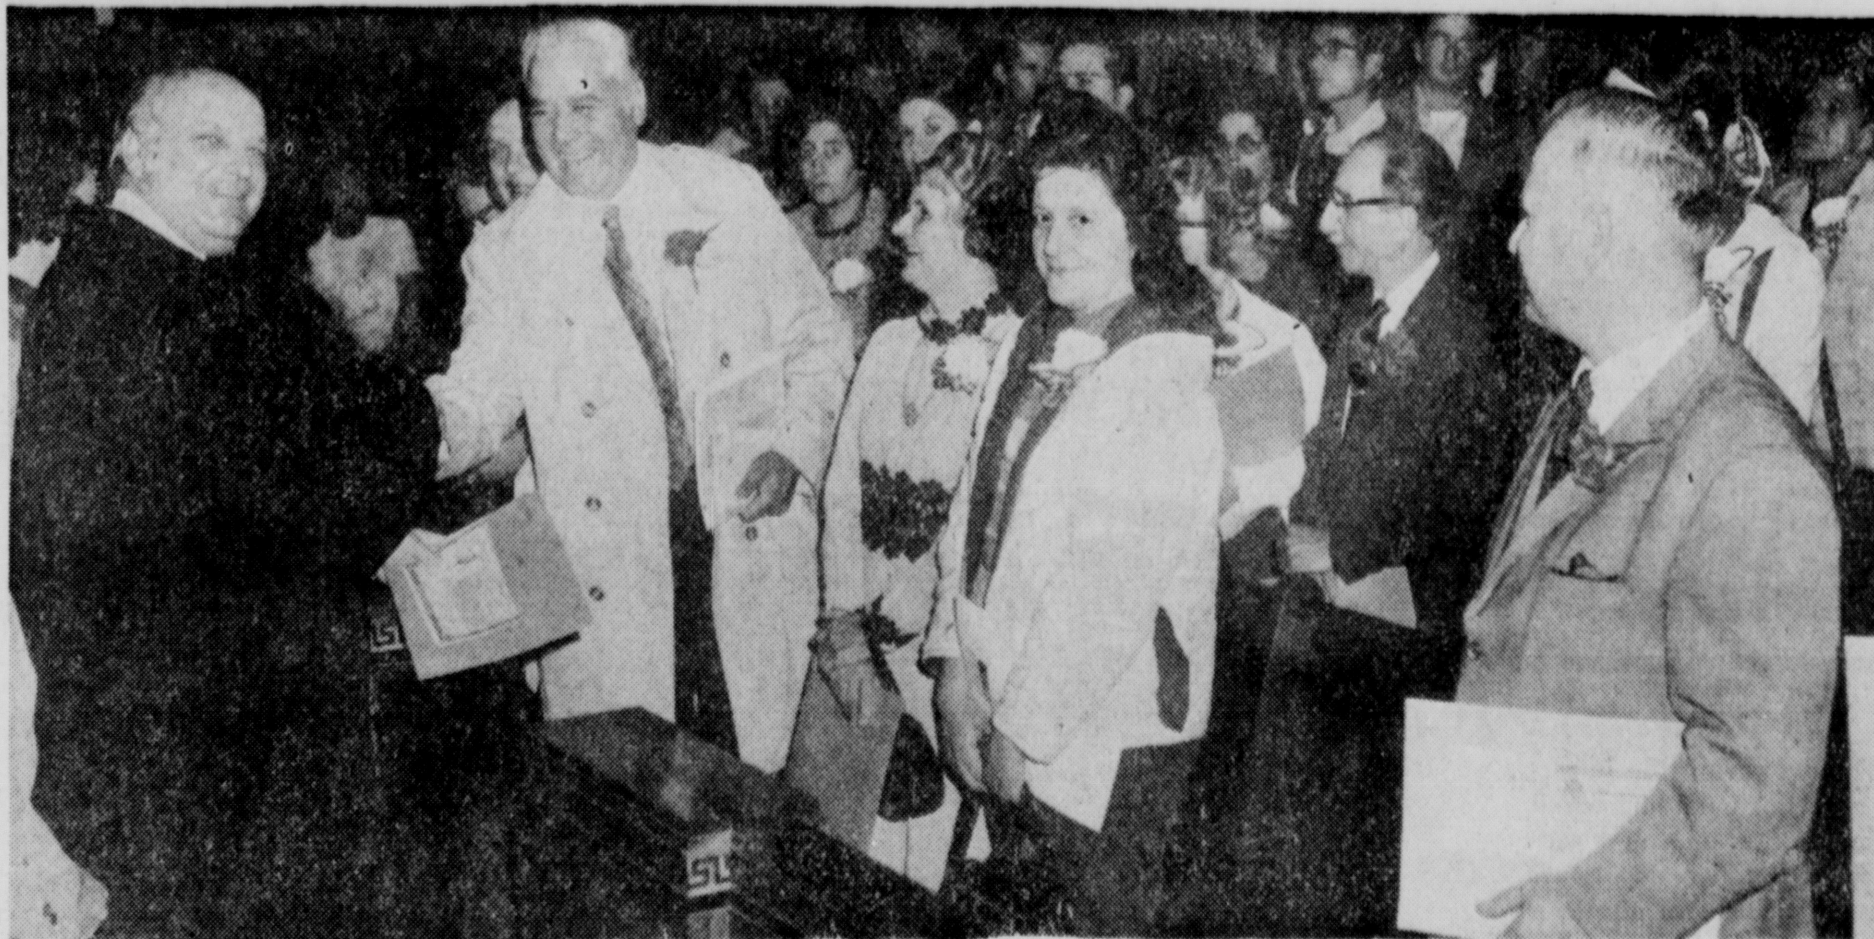

Welcoming his "fellow citizens," Justice Pennock urged them and the many young people in attendance to "pass on to your children the heritage you have received here today."

Young people do not need a red book to carry around to get answers as to why they want to be Americans. It was born in their hearts and nurtured by their mothers. Most get their philosophy and religion from their mother, Justice Pennock said. "Don't forget to impart this heritage to the new babies," he suggested and asked that the new citizens "keep your family three . . . keep your family unit . . . for we need faith and loyalty within the family if we are going to have faith and loyalty in our country."

Of freedom and liberty, Justice Pennock said he found it a great feeling to see problems settled in the courts instead of the streets and "it is a great thing to be able to question those you elected in the voting booth. Freedom and liberty are not to be taken for granted. Like flowers, they need sunshine, care and nurturing."

Those granted citizenship included:

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, SEPTEMBER 19, 1973

By JACK ANDERSON

WASHINGTON — Members of Congress used to bolster their family finances by putting relatives on the public payroll. This practice, known as nepotism, was outlawed six years ago. Yet a few veteran legislators are still handing out fat federal paychecks to their relatives.

The get away with it under a "grandfather" clause, which permits relatives who were on the payroll before 1967 to continue to collect government salaries. But their employment, though quite legal, clearly violates the spirit of the law.

Years ago, when we first started shaking the congressional payroll, hundreds of relatives fell out like overripe fruit from a tree. Almost half of the members had relatives drawing government pay. The spotlight of publicity sent most of them scurrying for other jobs.

We continued our payroll searches until the number of relatives was down to barely 50. The passage of the anti-nepotism law finally drove all

ETHICS ARBITER

— House ethics chairman Melvin Price, D-Ill., is still paying his brother Raymond a government salary over $14,000 a year. The arbiter of congressional ethics insists this doesn't violate the "spirit of the law."

— Representative Chet Holifield, D-Calif., the No. 2 man on the ethics committee, pays his receptionist-wife Vernice a $12,500 House salary.

— Representative Ken Gray, D-Ill., the Beau Brummell of the House, pays his father, Thomas Gray, $20,000 a year out of the public till to run his congressional office in West Frankfort, Ill.

— Representative Al Ullman, D-Ore., next in line for the chairmanship of the powerful House Ways and Means Committee, married his appointments secretary, Audrey, who as his wife still draws $8,500 a year for "part-time work."

— Representative Otto Passman, D-La., the stingiest man in Congress with foreign aid money, is more generous with his brother Otis who draws a $15,000 House salary. Passman says he returns about $3,000 of his payroll allotment to the Treasury each month. His brother's salary, therefore, is "a helluva lot lower than what I could pay him."

DISTRICT DIRECTOR

— Representative Spark Matsunaga, D-Hawaii, keeps his brother Andrew on the payroll for $14,000 as a "district director."

— Representative Edward Patten, D-N.J., pays his wife Anna an annual $13,500 to be his secretary.

— On the Senate side, Sen. Milton Young, R-N.D., married his executive secretary, Patricia, and continues to keep her on the payroll for $14,000 a year.

FOOTNOTE: Congressional salaries, keep pace with inflation, have climbed steadily to the present pinnacle of $42,500 a year. With all the fringe benefits, this is considered ample in most constituencies to keep the wolf from the door.

CONTRIBUTIONS AND COMMUNICATIONS: Contributions to President Nixon's re-election campaign may have bought yet another federal appointment.

Associates of James Quello, the President's anticipated nominee to the Federal Communications Commission, poured at least $120,000 into the Nixon campaign coffers. Quello himself kicked in $2,200.

The FCC has perhaps more impact on the daily lives of Americans than any other federal agency. It lays down the regulations for commercial television and determines how much the telephone industry can raise its rates.

Now the Administration plans to replace the only consumer-oriented commissioner with an industry man whose business friends donated heavily to the President's campaign.

The donations came from executives and stockholders of WJR radio in Detroit, and its parent, firm, Capital Cities Broadcasting. Quello was a WJR employee for 25 years before he retired as a vice president.

Quello has already run into some stiff opposition from citizen groups, including Ralph Nader's raiders, Nicholas Johnson, the commissioner Quello is slated to replace, has also gone on record opposing him.

Besides objecting to putting "the cat in charge of the cream," Quello's critics have cited a WJR internal memo which charges the Detroit broadcaster with being "insensitive" to minority problems.

CAPTIVE AUDIENCE: A new magazine about prisons called "In" is being published by ex-con Wesley Noble Graham, who once edited prison magazines from inside the federal prison system.

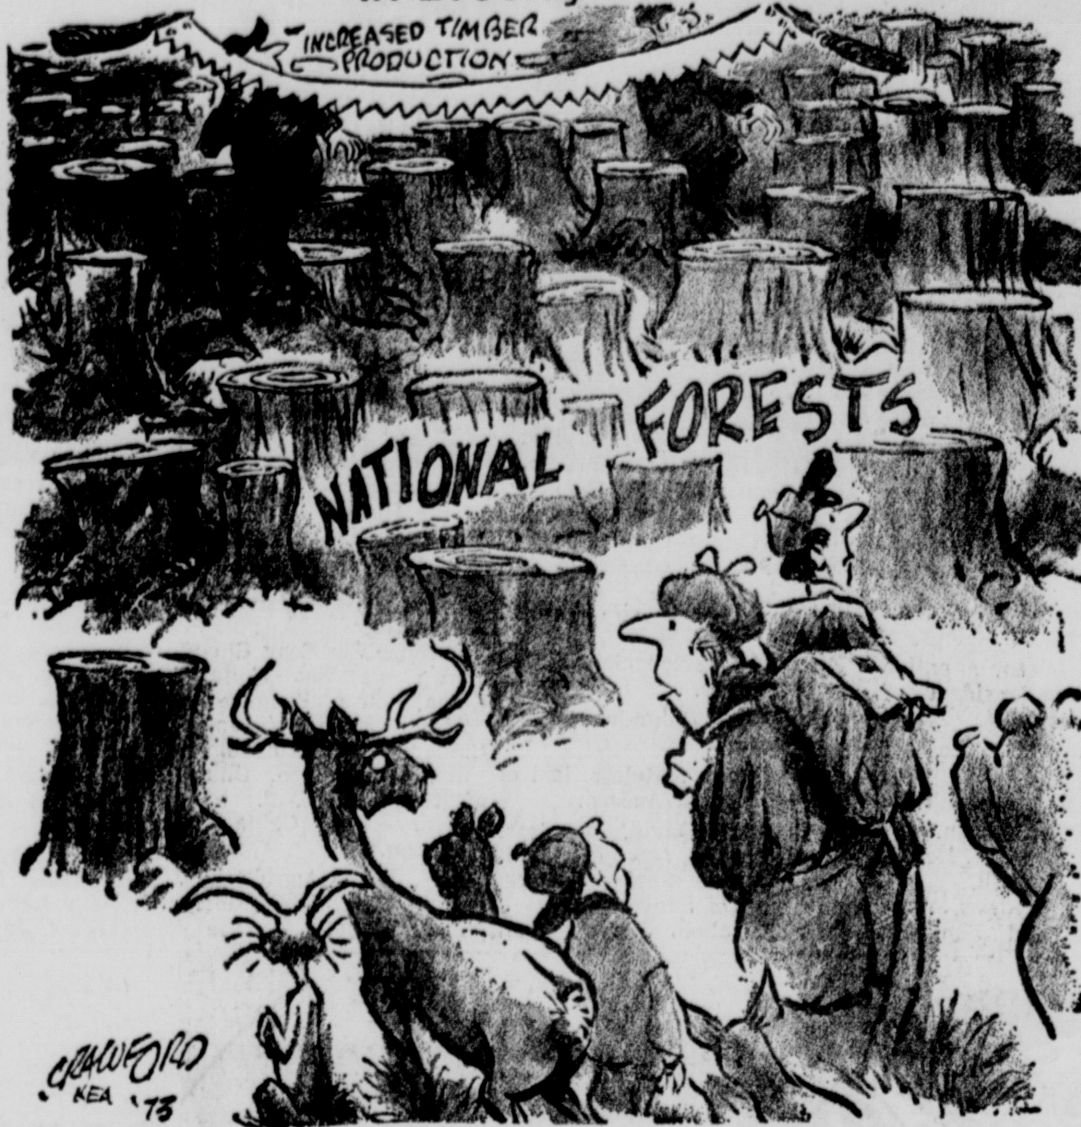

Printed in Iowa City, Iowa, it offers convicts $25 an article and a thorough assessment of their poems, stories and articles by professors at the University of Iowa. The slick paper magazine, so far, is long on literary merit, and short on advertisers and subscribers.

But "In" has other problems. Graham, a short time after his first issue, suffered a heart attack and is now trying to get out his second issue from a hospital bed.

Heating Oil Crisis

We can stay warm this winter if states and cities relax environmental rules, and if we pay two cents a gallon more for heating oil. The Cost of Living Council is revising pricing rules to permit distributors to import more oil at prices above those charged domestically and average the two. Those were two key points made by President Nixon in a 12-minute summary to reporters on energy. He said the plan will avert what he feared might be a very serious shortage of heating oil.

To speed reliance on domestic sources, the President served notice on environmentalists that he was determined to rush licensing of nuclear power plants, and would meet with the Atomic Energy Commission to give new impetus to the development of nuclear power.

Mr. Nixon will invite the governors of several states, chiefly from the Northeast and the upper Middle West, the principal oil burning regions to discuss the heating oil crisis. John A. Love, the director of the Energy Policy Office, explained that a higher sulphur content would permit the importation of higher sulphur oil and would cause electric utilities to stop blending low-sulphur oil with residual fuel oil, which has a higher sulphur content. In effect, that would divert heating oil from utilities to the residential market.

Further, despite Congressional and naval opposition, Mr. Nixon said he wanted to produce and market crude oil from the Elks Hills, naval petroleum reserve of more than one billion barrels. That would replace what we imported from Libya. Elks Hills is near Bakersfield, Calif.

What the President is aiming at in the development of indigenous energy resources and the minimal dependence on foreign supplies. He acknowledged that the United States would prefer to continue to import oil petroleum products from Venezuela, Canada, and other countries, "but we are keenly aware that no nation, and particularly no industrial nation, must be in the position of being at the mercy of any other nation by having its energy supply suddenly cut off."

Canadian Amnesty

Canada is eager for manpower and it has gone about legalizing immigrants, believed to be about 100,000 who have entered the country illegally. For two months, it has offered amnesty—a last chance—"to make our country your country."

Most of those who gain legal status in the amnesty program are expected to be from the ethnic communities mushrooming across the country, with increased immigration from Asia, the West Indies, and Central and Southern Europe. The proportion of Canadians of British and French descent, the two founding nationalities, now stands at 44 per cent for the British and 27 per cent for the French. The remaining 29 per cent trace their descent to other parts of the world.

Among them are the young Americans who fled to Canada to avoid the draft during the Vietnam war. Most, who number between 10,000 and 20,000 qualified as legal immigrants when they came, but there are some who are there illegally. How many will turn themselves in under the temporary amnesty cannot be guessed. The prospect of gaining Canadian citizenship and avoiding further difficulties at home may weigh heavily with them, but as citizens of Canada, they will have to face that country's military calls.

For the vast number of illegal immigrants who present themselves before the cutoff date, they will be allowed to stay and to move into the legal process that leads to citizenship. The main requirement is that they have jobs or job prospects, or have close family ties there, or can show that they can become established in Canada. Those who do not volunteer before the middle of October will run a serious risk of discovery and deportation.

Canada is doing both a gracious and an advantageous thing for its illegal residents.

BAD FOR LAWYERS—Chesterfield

Smith, a Florida trial lawyer now president of the American Bar Association, says that Watergate has badly hurt the image of all lawyers. The succession of lawyers who have been witnesses or mentioned in the affair lowered the opinion of the profession, he said.

By ROWLAND EVANS

and ROBERT NOVAK

MONTGOMERY, Ala. — The unobtrusive arrival here of a ghostwriter commissioned by Doubleday and Co. to write the definitive autobiography of Gov. George Wallace for pre-1976 publication is the latest sign that Wallace's confinement to a wheelchair may be no greater political hazard than it was to Franklin D. Roosevelt.

"This chair makes it more difficult," Wallace told us in his office. "But it doesn't stop me from being governor."

That was late one evening last week, following a two-hour meeting of the state building commission presided over by the governor. As we left at 7 p.m., Wallace's legislative leaders arrived for another hour's conference.

Having recovered from his internal wounds and suffering only minor periods of light pain, Wallace is beginning to think like a presidential candidate again. His mind is as sharp as it was before he was nearly murdered by an assassin 16 months ago. Indeed, the talk in Wallaceland of yet another presidential campaign in 1976, with the Democratic party's vice presidential nomination the real goal, cannot be dismissed as nonsense.

When we last visited a fatigued and pain-ridden Wallace a year ago, he could not stop reminiscing about his phenomenal 1972 primary victories, particularly his sweep in the liberal Democratic bastion of Michigan.

In contrast, Wallace's five 1972 winning primaries plus the five states he won in his third-party presidential campaign of 1968 are mentioned today only in passing. Wallace is now looking ahead, smacking his lips with anticipation and plotting a powerful role in that he calls the "rejuvenation" of the shattered Democratic party.

He has been holding quiet talks with former aides who long ago left him. While avoiding hard offers of political employment, Wallace is making it clear that he wants and needs serious professional help from these old presidential hands. The goal: to rebuild a competent staff of Alabamians for 1976. Among them is the astute Bill Jones, Wallace's oldest political advisor who left shortly after managing Wallace's 1968 third-party campaign; his talents were sorely missed in the inadequately organized 1972 campaign.

Jones and other old Wallaceites are impressed by the miraculous physical improvement of the governor, which has restored his psychological health and ended long periods of deep depression. To them, 1976 looks more promising than the governor's passes at the presidency in 1964, 1968 and 1972.

Wallace is dealing today with a shattered Democratic party which, with the sole exception of Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, has no recognizable center of power. Moreover, he is dealing with it from a position of complete dominance at home and wearing what his idolaters perceive as the mystical mantle of a hero miraculously immune from death by assassination.

That perception is so strong in Alabama that Republican state chairman Richard Bennett is advising his party not to field any candidate for governor next year when Wallace runs for reelection.

Thus, with only token Democratic opposition in next spring's primary election, Wallace could well sweep to his third term as Alabama's governor with an astounding 70 to 75 per cent of the vote.

One possible contender, former Gov. Albert Brewer, was barely defeated by Wallace in the 1970 primary. But today Brewer confronts a dismal statewide poll which the Wallace camp says was conducted for Brewer by national pollster Oliver Quayle. It shows Wallace ahead of Brewer by over 40 percentage points, according to Wallaceites.

Wallace, in short, appears stronger than ever after his near-assassination, a political fact the national Democratic party cannot ignore as it staggers out of the quicksands of 1972.

Although his old political power was built on a pledge of total racial segregation, Wallace today talks not about race but about the rights of "little people." The populist has eclipsed the segregationist.

Kennedy's speech for Wallace at Decatur, Ala., last July illustrated that no Northern Democrat can afford to ignore Wallace's huge following in the South or his populist appeal everywhere. Thus, unlikely though it sounds today, Wallace may well find himself powerful enough in 1976 either to exercise a veto over the Democratic party's presidential nominee or compel that nominee to take him on the ticket.

Such a turn of political events since his attempted murder in 1972 would be astonishing and incongruous. But over the last decade, the astonishing and incongruous have become the hallmark of American politics, as Richard Nixon — and now George Wallace — are discovering.

Entreaties to a President

Dear President Nixon: Forgive me for circumventing the U.S. mails in this manner. I ask you to get back to work as the full-time President of the United States. You owe us your best efforts. From the hinterland, it seems as though you spend a great number of hours either in sullen silence or in defending yourself.

It was you, in the campaign of 1968, who saw the little girl with the sign "Bring Us Together." You were touched by the sentiments of that child. So was I. But you must be aware that, no matter who is at fault, our America is split into hostile sections. We are fragmented.

A dozen years ago, this was the greatest, proudest, richest nation in the history of the world. It isn't any of those things now. People are afraid of people. Citizens are afraid of politicians. Politicians are afraid of grand juries. We can be described as fearful and confused.

You are the only leader we have. There is no second choice at this stage. It is you or it is nobody. It is going to remain that way for three more years and four months. We need positive leadership today. Your conscience, as the elected and paid employee of 208,000,000 people, must tell you that we are entitled to your best efforts.

On the personal side, you know that I do not write this as a friend. You are not on my "enemies" list, but I am on yours. There are many things of greater importance than my feelings, or yours. This country cannot be permitted to run down the drain because of charges, indictments, editorials or Presidential prerogatives.

If, as you told the White House employees when you returned from Bethesda Medical Center, that you have no intention of resigning, that you "have a job to do and I plan to do it," I can do no less than applaud.

Do it. Bring us together. The sleigh ride downhill is swift and effortless. It's the walking back up that hurts. Start walking. The industrial giants, the white collars, the hard hats, and all of us ordinary citizens will follow. Don't you see — we have no other place to go.

The scandals which have erupted into public view have dimmed the sun. It is not for me to judge your innocence or guilt. In this matter you are the most sagacious judge, because you know. A long time from now, history will judge you as the most maligned President or the most malignant. But that's a long way off and we can't wait.

You spend too much time alone. All Presidents need a close-knit team of advisors. Your old one has been shot down. There are many men of substance who believe in you and in your administration. Pick 'em up; work 'em. It is impossible to keep flying from the White House to Key Biscayne to San Clemente and back again, as though a separation of 35,000 feet will insulate you from the squirrel rifles of your adversaries. To us, the public, you give the impression of a man running from the dark shadows of nightmares.

Simply stated; we need a President. You may not need the job, but we the people have run out of options — we need a working man who will do positive things about inflation, food shortages, fuel shortages; someone who will continue to open doors to China, the Soviet Union, Egypt, Japan, Israel, Germany East and West.

These are imperative problems. I do not pretend — as do some of my confreres — that I know the solutions. If I did, I wouldn't be punching this typewriter. But you know the way out. No man in the history of the republic trained so hard and so long for the job you now hold.

If you can brook a criticism, I would say that you are obsessed with the "they're out to get me" syndrome. You play the role like Douglas Fairbanks backing up a staircase wielding a busted sword. "Getting me" is part of the political philosophy of this country Kennedy "got" you by a narrow margin in 1960. There were some dirty tricks in that campaign, you will recall. Before that, you "got" Helen Gahagan Douglas in California. Roosevelt got Hoover; Truman bagged Dewey; coming down to the lower level of gutter politics, John V. Kennedy got Frank Hague in New Jersey.

I would, if I could, admonish you to ignore those who are trying to "get" you. The second and final term is yours. You won it by a landslide. Within six months, you lost the faith of the American people.

You have 40 months in which to redress wrongs, to lead the nation fearlessly and without favor, to "Bring us Together." Remember, Mr. President, if you don't work, we don't.

Visit Children

Editor, The Freeman:

I have had the opportunity to visit some of the finest hospitals in this country. The two hospitals we have in the Kingston area are excellent. I have also had the opportunity to visit on many occasions, Sunnyview Hospital and Rehabilitation Center in Schenectady. The facilities and staff there are the greatest in the country.

Something I saw at Sunnyview Hospital and Rehabilitation Center comes to mind. I'd like to share it with you. I was waiting for the elevator, when I saw two nurses rushing down the hallway pushing a child in a bed. This child was obviously handicapped, however, there was a smile on this child's face. The nurses were rushing the child to the phone, which was right next to the elevator. I looked at the child's face when right next to the elevator. I looked at the child's face when she was handed the phone. It was like seeing a ray of sunshine. The child said to the person on the other end, "Hi Grandma, I Love You." I must say, I had to fight back the tears. I have seen many other wonderful things like this done for these children, as well as for adults.

I have a dear friend who had a premature baby. After a thorough examination of this baby, it was realized that she needed special help. Within a matter of hours there was an ambulance at the Benedictine Hospital, staffed with a nurse and a doctor and a isolet. They transported this tiny life to St. Peters in Albany. St. Peters has a marvelous premature ward. With these facilities and a fine staff, life was given to this very beautiful child.

You may be asking why am I going into all of this. An untold number of the premature births in Vietnam die. They don't have the equipment or facilities to breathe life into these children. A handicapped child in Vietnam doesn't have a smile on its face. It doesn't have a clean bed to lay in. What these children have is a floor. They have insects crawling all over them. There are no smiles. More often than not, there are no grandmothers or mothers to say "I love you" to. There isn't anyone to say to them in their pain "I love you and I'm here if you need me."

Friends of Children of Vietnam has decided to build a medical and rehabilitation center in Saigon for these children. This facility will help children with diseases that have practically disappeared in the U.S. polio, TB and a number of other known diseases. A premature child will be put into a clean, well staffed premature ward, and given a chance to live. The children with bent, deformed bodies will be helped to straighten their bodies. These children will be given a chance to be whole again.

The costs of this hospital is estimated at a half a million dollars. We hope to raise $10,000 in Ulster County. This money will be raised by people like you. November 18, 1973, we plan on having a fund raising event. We will be having a radio-thon with WGHQ. It will be called "Operation Children." Listen to your radio and read your papers for further details.

Respectfully,
MARY E. McMICKLE

Defends the Point

Editor, The Freeman:

Your editorial, "Updating the Point," requires some observations and comments. Certainly, much of it was misleading and would cause the reader to draw erroneous conclusions. Apparently, as is apt to happen, incomplete information caused the writer to do the same. Unfortunately, it is not possible to adequately address all the points covered in a reasonable amount of space. I hope, however, that a few thoughts will help put them into a better perspective.

Hazing is an item you attacked but you failed to mention the breath of your interpretation of the term. You merely described two repugnant "stupid" at all. Yet, consideration for fellow cadets would dictate that street shoes should not be worn into these areas. You also mention confinement. The percentage of cadets committing offenses warranting confinement was poor. Hazing was created with purpose. Whatever form it takes (and there are many, all of which are more meaningful than the examples you cite), it is intended to enhance a cadet's alertness, reaction, posture, bearing, physical strength and/or a host of other characteristics so essential in today's society, military or otherwise.

Rules and regulations similarly are for a purpose. For example, if you understood how the shower rooms are designed, you would have known that it is quite possible to enter one fully clothed, disrobe, and then step into an individual shower. Such an action would not be described as "stupid" at all. Yet, consideration for fellow cadets would dictate that street shoes should not be worn into these areas. You also mention confinement. The percentage of cadets committing offenses warranting confinement was very small and the typical punishment was more like two or three hours. A six months penalty would only have been appropriate for a very grave offense. Even then, it would only be served during the very limited free time on Saturday and Sunday afternoons. All other activities, including classes, athletics, religious activities, drill, meals, study periods and the like would be scheduled normally. The rigors of cadet life are hardly what would "drive them to the psychiatric ward."

It is only when you thoroughly understand an item and analyze it in regard to its individual or overall purpose that you can reach sound conclusions regarding its worth. I sense that you have been guilty of omission in this respect. At the academies, as in any orderly society, the purposes are always in a state of change and the regulations must change accordingly. Often, the formalization of these changes lags the actual common sense implementation.

I feel you have rendered a rather harsh and inaccurate judgment. My fervent hope is that this letter has some measure of success in creating a new perspective. I also hope, and believe, the accomplishments of graduates of all the service academies substantiate not only the calibre of the individuals but the quality of the training they received.

Sincerely,
SAMUEL H. WILSON

Good Deeds

Editor: The Freeman

Someone once said that good deeds make for dull reading. I hope that is why stories of man's inhumanity to man far outnumber incidents involving good deeds in our newspapers and over our television sets and radios. In any event, they do, and the repeated exposure to such stuff unhappily tinges many of us with a cynical and jaded attitude. The newspapers constantly demonstrate to us that people don't seem to care very much for their fellow man—and so we are thereby gradually conditioned to accept this attitude as a behavioral norm.

There are a lot of good things being done by a lot of good people, and when they happen, we should hear about them. Thus, this letter. A week ago, Sunday, my wife was involved in a serious car accident on the Zena Highlands Road when a bee momentarily distracted her, causing the car to leave the roadway and crash into a tree. Riding in the car with her were our two young children and one of their friends. Although the car was very badly damaged they were all able to get out. Moments later, while the four of them were standing alone outside of the car, dazed, frightened and in my wife's case, bleeding, a man named Fred Shader pulled up in his truck. He immediately came to their assistance, and after concluding that an ambulance was not necessary, put them all in his truck and drove them to the Kingston Hospital. On the way, he managed to keep both my wife and the children calm and gave them a much needed feeling of security with his coolness, patience and concern.

He was, I believe working at the time, but I am sure there was never any question in his mind about his course of action when he came upon the scene. I have already thanked Mr. Shader personally, but I felt that what he did was so fine, and represents such a wonderful example of one man's concern for his fellow human beings that I wanted to do it in a more public way. Again, Mr. Shader, thank you so very much for showing such thoughtfulness and concern and may we all follow and profit from your fine example.

Sincerely yours,
JOSH KOPLOVITZ

Supports Nixon

Editor, The Freeman:

It is surely high time that the TELEVISION VIEWERS who heard young PETER FONDA, and an equally boring companion, who scandalized millions of helpless viewers by taking snide pot-shots at President Nixon, as though he were an unknown nonentity, and not one of the most far-sighted and alert American Presidents of all time, as time will undoubtedly prove; indeed, a President who brought modern China into close touch with the Western World, and also brought Soviet Russia into line with the United States of America, Japan, France, Germany and the United Kingdom of Great Britain, wrought a prodigious diplomatic miracle and achievement!

The practice of allowing immature publicity seekers unguarded access to Television facilities, as a disgusted viewer pointed out, "is a privilege that should be ruthlessly extinguished forthwith."

Your correspondent feels that we all should pay tribute to our President, grappling with world problems, which very few, if any, have had to deal in contemporary times.

Balance of Payments Trend Is Improving

WASHINGTON (AP) — The nation's balance of payments was in the red by only $800 million in the second quarter of this year, the smallest quarterly deficit in two and one-half years, the Commerce Department reported today.

The latest report on the country's international payments position indicated that a trend of improvement which started earlier this year is continuing. The payments deficit last year totaled $9.8 billion.

The Commerce Department said the second quarter improvement resulted largely from a reduction in the country's trade deficit from $960 million in the first quarter to $230 million in the second quarter.

The Commerce Department also reported that personal income of Americans increased by $1.6 billion in August, a substantial rise. The increase in July was $8.5 billion.

The big jump was in industry payrolls, which increased $1.5 billion, compared with an increase of $800 million in the previous month.

Manufacturing payrolls rose $1 billion in August, about the same as in July as higher hourly earnings more than compensated for declines in employment and working hours, the department said.

The August increase in personal income meant Americans were receiving personal income at an annual rate of $1,045.7 billion, a rate that has been increasing steadily throughout the year.

U. S. Dollar Shows Gain On Some European Markets

LONDON (UPI) — The slipping U.S. dollar rallied slightly on some European money markets today but hit its lowest price in five weeks in Frankfurt. The price of gold fell further.

The dollar opened fractionally higher in Paris, London and Amsterdam. It closed the day lower on Tokyo's currency exchange at 265.29 yen compared with Tuesday's 265.45.

In Frankfurt the opening rate of 2.4120 marks was unchanged from Tuesday's closing price and from the Tuesday fixed rate, which was the lowest such quotation since Aug. 13.

In France, where financial sources said the official Bank opening level of 4.322 francs of France intervened in the market Tuesday, the dollar used in official transactions opened stronger today.

The financial dollar used by tourists in France moved up from 4.31 francs Tuesday to an opening of 4.2612, up from Tuesday's 4.2432.

The dollar gained a fraction of 100 points in London, with some opening trades at $2.4170 to the pound. But deals just after the market opening took the pound price above Tuesday's $2.4172 close.

Gold opening in London at $102.75, a 25-cent fall from the Tuesday closing price.

Nixon Housing Proposal . . . Give Cash Payments to Needy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Term-scaled to make up the difference between what a family could afford on its own for housing and the cost of safe and sanitary housing in that geographic area.

The President said a final decision on the wisdom of the innovative approach probably would come "late in 1974 or early in 1975."

For the moment, Nixon said, there would be a continuing need to provide some federally subsidized housing projects. But he recommended, as a new approach, that developers make newly-built units "available at special rents for low-income families and the government in return would pay the developer the difference between such rents and fair market rents."

Recommending that first priority be given to the elderly poor, Nixon said the cash subsidies "would be carefully

In the field of public housing, Nixon announced he was lifting his Jan. 5 suspension of "the section 23 program under which new and existing housing is leased for low-income families."

Nixon also proposed a major experiment designed to ease the home-buying burden on young families.

He asked Congress for authority to test a program that would gear mortgage payments to expected changes in family income.

"Rather than make the same flat payment over the life of the loan, families would make smaller payments in the earlier years — when they are hardest pressed — and larger payments later on — when their incomes are higher," Nixon said.

Dr. Ratau Gets New Paltz Post

NEW PALTZ

Dr. Joseph T. Ratau, chairman of the Department of Physics, has been appointed acting dean of the Faculty of Liberal Arts and Sciences at the State University College at New Paltz, Dr. Stanley K. Coffman Jr., president of the college, has announced.

Dr. Ratau was named by the trustees of the State University of New York to replace Dr. Alan Bogard, who has returned to full-time teaching in the Department of Speech.

Dr. Robert Ehrlich, an associate professor, has been appointed acting chairman of the Department of Physics.

Dr. Ratau holds the B.S. degree from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute and the M.A., Ed.D. and Ph.D. degrees from Columbia University in physics, physical science and nuclear physics, respectively. He is the author of several papers on high-energy physics that have appeared in professional journals.

Born in Paris, Dr. Ratau attended secondary school in France. Before joining the New Paltz faculty in 1965 he taught at Queens College and Queensboro Community College of the City University of New York.

Dr. Ehrlich, a native of Brooklyn, holds a B.S. degree magna cum laude from Brooklyn College and a Ph.D. in physics from Columbia University. He held positions at the University of Pennsylvania and Rutgers University before coming to New Paltz in 1970.

TB-RD Unit Looks at New Smoke Problem

KINGSTON

The Catskill Region TB and Respiratory Disease Association is concerning itself with the problems brought about in hospitals when non-smoking patients are exposed to cigarette smoke.

Second-hand cigarette smoke affects non-smokers in much the same way as it affects smokers. It increases the heart beat and blood pressure and raises the level of carbon monoxide in the blood.

All people, but especially those who are ill should be protected from these hazards to their health. Efforts have been made to eliminate smoking in some hospitals but in others, even patients with severe respiratory problems are sometimes confined in rooms where other patients and their visitors are allowed to smoke.

The New York Lung Association, working with other organizations concerned with the problem, recently issued guidelines to hospitals in New York City in an attempt to help patients troubled by this situation. Information about what is happening in local hospitals is available at the Catskill Region TB and RD Association, 124 Green Street.

Focus Placed On Rights of The Others

KINGSTON

John M. Robbins, president of the Catskill Region TB and RD Association, has announced that the association is urging a public focus on the rights of the non-smoker.

As a part of this program the association designed a booth at the Ulster County Fair to encourage non-smokers to exercise their rights. The Catskill Region Association and Robbins urge everyone who has not kicked the cigarette smoking habit yet to ask permission before lighting a cigarette.

"Asthma victims and many other people are sensitive to smoke and suffer when others light up," he noted. Free literature on the facts of cigarette smoking pollution are available at the association office at 124 Green Street in Kingston.

Exam Listed For Clerk in School System

KINGSTON

The Kingston Municipal Civil Service Commission has announced a promotion examination for a personal clerk in the Kingston City School District, Consolidated.

The qualifying experience for taking the test includes three years of permanent competitive service in the Kingston City School District as a stenographer, and one year of which would have involved the processing of personal or insurance transactions.

Application forms may be secured from the Municipal Civil Service Commission, City Hall, 1 Meadow Street, Kingston. Applications must be filed with the Municipal Civil Service Commission on or before Oct. 10. The test will be held Nov. 10.

Fuel Economy Dips in '74 Cars

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Environmental Protection Agency has released its 1974 Who's Who of Gasoline Guzzlers, showing that the season's new cars will get slightly fewer miles per gallon, on the average, than the 1973 models.

With some new cars not yet tested, EPA reported an overall average of 15.1 miles per gallon on the 376 vehicles checked, three-tenths of a mile less than the 1973 average.

The averages ranged from 24.4 miles per gallon for 2,000-pound cars, to 15.3 mpg at 3,000 pounds, and on down to a low of 8.3 mpg in the heavyweight 5,500-pound class.

The most economical car tested was a 2,000-pound Honda Civic at 29.1 miles per gallon, followed by Toyota's Corolla-1 Coupe and Sedan at 27.1 and 24.8.

Rock-bottom among the EPA-tested cars was the 4,000-pound Ferrari-365 GTB-4 with a 268-cubic-inch engine, flaring one gallon of gasoline to glide a mere 6.4 miles.

Only a drop or two better was a 5,500-pound Oldsmobile Toronado with automatic transmission, whose 445-cubic-inch engine rolled it only 6.8 miles on one gallon.

EPA collects fuel-economy data while verifying anti-pollution performance in a test that simulates urban driving.

The agency issued its first gasoline-mileage listing on 1973 vehicles last April, to encourage fuel economy and thereby reduce pollution and ease the energy shortage.

For 1974 cars, EPA proposed the voluntary display, on new cars, of gasoline-mileage data by weight class and individual model. Most manufacturers reportedly intend to participate.

Within any production run, vehicles of identical design and equipment may vary widely in their actual on-the-road fuel economy, depending heavily on the habits of the drivers.

But EPA says that the test findings and averages provide at least a comparison of relative fuel economy characteristics that can be weighed by car-buyers.

As usual, sheer weight is the biggest mileage-stealer: as auto weight rises from 2,000 to 3,000 pounds, performance drops from the average 24.4 miles per gallon to 15.3, losing about one mile per gallon for every 100 extra pounds.

Above 3,000 pounds, the weight effect works less rapidly, with performance dropping less than half a mile per gallon for each 100 pounds.

The mileage-stickers displayed by participating manufacturers this fall were designed by EPA and will show, at least, the average fuel economy for each weight class and the weight class of the individual car.

As an optional feature, the sticker may also display the specific EPA-tested gasoline mileage for that particular model.

Here is a summary of the average fuel economy and top performers in each of the ten EPA weight classes:

2,000 pounds, average 24.4 miles per gallon: Honda Civic 29.1 mpg; Toyota Corolla-1 Coupe 27.1 and Sedan 24.8.

—2,250 pounds, average 21.5 mpg: Datsun B-210 manual transmission 24.9 mpg; Toyota Corolla-2 Sedan 22.6; Datsun B-210 automatic 22.2.

—2,500 pounds, average 18.9 mpg: Subaru SW 22.7; Volkswagen Convertible-15 at 22.6 mpg; Toyota Corolla-2 Station Wagon 21.1.

—2,750 pounds, average 18.5 mpg: Chevrolet Vega Hatchback 24.6 mpg; Ford Pinto 22.8; Dodge Colt SW 22.8.

—3,000 pounds, average 15.3 mpg: Chevrolet Vega Kammback 20.0 mpg; Ford Pinto Wagon 19.6; Toyota Mark IV Station Wagon 19.4.

—3,500 pounds, average 13.9 mpg: Ford Comet 19.9 mpg; Volvo-145 at 18.4 mpg; "88" Land Rover 17.7.

—4,000 pounds, average 11.3 mpg: Ford E-100 at 18.9 mpg; Ford F-100 at 16.4; Chevrolet Nova Hatchback at 15.7.

—4,500 pounds, average 9.7 mpg: Chevrolet G-20 Sportvan 12.4 mpg; AMC Matador SW 12.3; Ford E-200 at 12.3; and Plymouth Inter. at 11.8.

—5,000 pounds, average 9.2 mpg: Buick Century Wagon 16.7; Ford Montego Wagon 11.4; Chevrolet Impala Sport Sedan 11.0.

—5,500 pounds, average 8.3 mpg: Cadillac Eldorado 10.4; Chevrolet Impala Estate Wagon 10.0; Buick Estate Wagon and Chevrolet Caprice Wagon 9.6.

4 Business Giants Under Bias Probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — Four giant companies — General Motors, Ford, General Electric and Sears Roebuck — are under federal investigation in the biggest case ever of alleged discriminatory employment practices.

The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission said it consolidated numerous complaints against four national corporations and the unions with which they hold contracts into a single case.

Also involved are a major construction union and the contractors and contractors' associations with which it bargains.

The commission refused to name the companies or unions because of a federal law barring such disclosure until lawsuits are filed. However, all four corporations confirmed they are targets of the probe.

Commission Chairman William H. Brown III said the agency would attempt to negotiate voluntary settlements with those cited. "If settlement cannot be reached, however, the commission will consider taking the cases to court," he said.

General Motors, Ford and General Electric issued statements denying the charges, which include allegations of job discrimination on the basis of race, color, creed, sex and national origin. They relate to such areas as wages, benefits, union representation, layoffs, promotion and seniority.

Sears Roebuck had no comment.

The unions involved include the United Auto Workers, International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, International Union of Electrical Workers and others in the auto and electrical industries. Only the IUE commented, saying it would cooperate fully in the investigation.

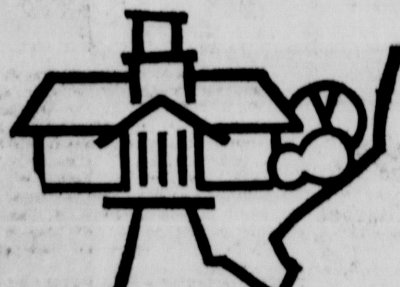

Identities of the construction union and contractors could not be learned.

The charges were the first to be brought by the commission's new National Programs Division, which is headed by David Copus, the attorney who ran the commission's investigation of the American Telephone & Telegraph Co.

The AT&T case resulted in a settlement earlier this year requiring the payment of $15 million in back wages, to women, blacks and others who were found to have been discriminated against. Another $23 million was to have been paid in wage adjustments aimed at elevating women and minority men to equal job standing with whites.

Cambodia Stronger Without the Bombs

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Cambodian government is stronger now than when American air raids stopped a month ago. State Department officials say.

As evidence, these officials, who decline to be identified, point to the successful defense of Cambodia's second largest city, Kompong Cham, against a determined insurgent attack.

In addition, the officials say, the Cambodian government "is proceeding to implement important reforms to control inflation, assure adequate rice distribution and provide sufficient manpower" for its armed forces.

So, "despite the dire predictions for disaster following the Aug. 15 bombing halt," the officials state, "the situation in Cambodia appears to have improved significantly during the past month."

Led by President Nixon and Henry A. Kissinger, the administration has charged that moves by Congress to force an end to U.S. bombing in Cambodia would seriously undermine the Lon Nol regime. Administration officials, military experts, and intelligence analysts nearly all agreed that without the massive B52 raids, the fall of Cambodia was only a matter of time, and a very short time at that.

The turnabout in the attitude of the State Department officials is the result of unexpected determination by the Cambodian military combined with some fortunate weather and shortages by the insurgents.

Seasonal rains have slowed the Communist forces and so has a lack of ammunition. Prince Norodom Sihanouk, former Cambodian ruler and figurehead leader of the insurgents, has acknowledged that the shortage has forced a delay until the December dry season of any major attack on Phnom Penh, the capital.

But the primary reason for the Cambodian success is the military, according to the State Department officials. "Cambodian military forces — on their own — have turned back a major enemy offensive," the officials maintained.

GENEVA (AP) — The United States and its allies will be trying to punch new holes in the old iron curtain when they join the Soviet bloc and the rest of Europe today for the resumption of the Conference on Security and Cooperation in Europe.

The Soviets will be seeking first of all an accord on the "inviolability of frontiers" to strengthen their position in Europe and the position of their East German allies.

The first phase of the conference ended in Helsinki in July with agreement on general principles. The task of the second phase is to work out agreements translating those principles into concrete terms, and the job is expected to take months.

"This is the phase that will determine the success or failure of the conference," said Andre Dominec, the Swiss executive secretary of the conference.

George Vest is heading the U.S. delegation. A. G. Kovalev, a vice minister of foreign affairs, leads the Soviet group.

Each of the 35 participating governments has a veto on all decisions, at least in theory and often in practice. Little Malta, for example, held up the preparatory work in Helsinki for days in an attempt to get a hearing for some of its friends.

Western delegates think it will be February or March before any agreements can be drafted. The Soviets would like quicker results.

Something probably will be ready for signing eventually in a third and final phase of the conference.

Perhaps as many as 300 diplomats are involved, with an international staff of about 300.

The Western delegates are most interested in agreements dealing with increased contacts between the peoples of East and West — bringing families together, encouraging travel and exchanging books, newspapers and television programs.

The Soviets are most interested in getting a restatement of such principles as "the territorial integrity of states" and "nonintervention in internal affairs" of other nations, provided the phrasing does not imply criticism of their invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968 or their repression of the Hungarian revolt in 1956.

Vassar Opens Fall Semester

POUGHKEEPSIE Vassar College will begin classes Thursday with 2,256 students, several new buildings, and eight renovated dormitories.

Wednesday's opening convocation address will be delivered by Vassar President Alan Simpson in the college chapel at 3:30 p.m.

The 597-member freshman class arrived Sept. 15 for registration and four days of orientation.

Returning students will find that a new Biological Sciences Building and an experimental theatre have been virtually completed over the summer. Both will be put to use immediately, although certain interior work has yet to be completed.

The 72,000 square foot biology building, designed by SMS Associates of Stamford, Conn., will replace the 72-year-old New England Building, which will be used for other purposes.

Begun in 1971, the four-story brick and concrete structure will cost approximately $5.7 million.

The experimental theatre, to be dedicated as the Eallie Flanagan Davis Powerhouse Theatre Oct. 12, will provide space for innovative productions for small audiences and for a drama workshop.

It is housed in the shell of an obsolete powerhouse behind the Main Building. The $850,000 facility was designed by Robertson Ward Associates of Chicago.

But the Main Building itself is undergoing dramatic alterations. The foundation for a 52,000 square foot College Center was laid over the summer, and work on the super-structure will begin shortly.

Designed by Jean Paul Carlihan of the Boston firm of Shepley, Bulfinch, Richardson and Abbott, the $3,875,000 student activities facility is expected to be completed a year from now.

The dormitory renovation and rehabilitation program cost about $400,000. Changes resulted from the recent completion of the Central Dining Hall in Students' Building; the addition of that facility to the physical plant enabled the college to put existing dormitory dining rooms and kitchens to new uses.

Students found new smaller kitchens for snacks and light meals, as well as new study rooms, game rooms, music rooms, and lounges. Basements have also been painted and relighted.

Funding for the construction of new buildings and improvements on the old was provided by the college's current $50 million Capital Campaign.

Marist Lists Series Guest

POUGHKEEPSIE Jay College since 1968, has had Dr. Donald H. Riddle, president of John Jay College of Criminal Justice in New York City, will be first guest speaker in a criminal justice lecture series sponsored at Marist College through a $2,000 grant from the S and H Foundation.

"Criminal Justice — in Service to Society," is the title of the series which offers six guest lecturers, beginning September 26 with Dr. Riddle, who will discuss "Education and the Future of the Criminal Justice System." All lectures begin at 8 p.m. in the Campus Center theatre and are open to the public without charge.

Bike Routes Set for Benefit

POUGHKEEPSIE the last entrant has pedaled off. The Bike-A-Thon will function in the same manner as some other recent fund raisers, with each participant enlisting the aid of sponsors who have pledged a certain amount of money for each mile the entrant rides his bike.

The course will allow a participant to pedal 10, 20, or 30 miles, depending upon his reserve of energy. All monies raised will be for the 1974 Heart Fund campaign.

The Bike-A-Thon is being sponsored by the Mid-Hudson Bicycle Club and the Mount Beacon Amateur Radio Club, who will provide communications, in cooperation with the Heart Fund Committee.

Three Dutchess County routes have been laid out for the Sept. 30 Heart Fund Bike-A-Thon, according to Mrs. Barbara Briggs, chairman.

Three regional chairmen to coincide with the routes are Thomas Macrini, Southern Route, Wappingers starting from Fishkill Plains Elementary School; Sheridan Morey, Central Route, starting at Poughkeepsie High School; and William Kleinbomer, Northern Route, starting at Chancellor Livingston Elementary School in Rhinebeck.

Starting time for each route will be 10 a.m., continuing until

Incumbent Scores Both Opponents

WAPPINGERS FALLS is, or has been, a salesman. Dutchess County Comptroller Nicholas M. Russo has categorized his Republican and Democratic opponents in this November's race as professionally unqualified.

At a recent meeting before the Wappingers Kiwanis Club, the Red Hook resident and Conservative candidate to retain his county job, said, "Up until this year's election, all candidates who vied for the comptroller's post, regardless of political affiliation, have been C.P.A.s."

Unfortunately this year, however, the Republican candidates who vied for the comptroller's post, regardless of political affiliation, have been C.P.A.s.

He pointed out that since 1968 all political parties in the county have selected C.P.A.s to run for the office, and he attacked a "political power struggle" as the source of the discrepancy this year.

Russo recounted his 15 years accounting and auditing experience as a C.P.A. and eight years experience in county government and added, "In addition, I have proven that I owe my allegiance to no one political party but to all of the taxpayers of Dutchess County."

Recreation Grant For Rhinebeck Park

RHINEBECK parcel of land on West Market Street.

The funding is there for construction of the first phase of a new $456,500 recreation center to serve people in the town and village of Rhinebeck.

Announcement of a $150,000 grant from the New York State Development Bond Act toward the 15-acre complex was made today by the Office of Parks and Recreation.

A matching sum from the Thompson Trust and private sources in Rhinebeck has been pledged toward construction of the recreation facility on a Rhinebeck Community Center, Inc. is the ad hoc group supervising plans for the complex, with the blessings of town and village governments.

The first phase will include construction of access roads this fall, and then working into an outdoor swimming pool, parking facilities, bath house, ice and roller skating area, outdoor basketball courts, playground, picnic area, and some shelter as well as softball fields. Night lighting for the pool and ball fields is anticipated.

Action for Women Lists Rap Session For September 20

announced that it will hold a rap session on "Sisterhood" at a wine and cheese party at the Women's Center, 27 Franklin St., Poughkeepsie, at 7:45 p.m., Thursday, September 20. All women are invited to attend and requested to bring refreshments.

The wine and cheese party will also include the opportunity to see the televised tennis match between Billie Jean King and Bobby Riggs, beginning at 8 p.m.

A spokeswoman for Action for Women, Alice Kintisch, said, "Many of today's women are interested in defining, exploring and examining the relationship of women to each other and the feeling of sisterhood that many women have. Our rap session will give women the opportunity to discuss what sisterhood means to them, how it affects their lives and how the feeling of sisterhood can lead to positive growth and enrichment."

UC Public Health Committees Call October 1 Meeting

The annual meeting and luncheon of the Ulster County Public Health Committees will be held at Williams Lake, Rosendale Monday, Oct. 1 according to announcement made today by Miss Helen Geneis, director, Ulster County Public Health and Mrs. William D. Brinnier, health committees president.

Session will start with a coffee hour 9:30 to 10 a.m. followed by a panel with speakers from the Ulster County Department of Social Services. Robert Hauge will speak on food stamps and Medicaid. Mrs. John Crews will discuss Homemaker Service while the area of social security and Medicare will be presented by Hyman Gardlin. Other topics to be covered by the morning panel will be Home Health Services of Ulster County Health Department including nursing, physical therapy, speech therapy and home health aids.

A dutch treat cocktail hour and luncheon will be at 1 p.m. Local committees will give yearly reports. Public health committees from Lloyd, Marbletown, Milton, Walker Valley, Olive, Plattekill, Saugerties, Shandaken, Shawangunk and Woodstock will be represented.

Reservations for the meeting and luncheon may be made with local committee presidents or by contacting Miss Geneis at the county office building. Deadline for reservations is Monday, Sept. 24.

Cocktail Dresses Back in Vogue: Laurent's Idea

By ALINE MOSBY

PARIS (UPI) — Designer Yves Saint Laurent's sensation in his winter high fashion show: 1930-ish midi cocktail dresses with little veiled hats.

Saint Laurent has the widest influence on the world's ready-to-wear and factories from Hong Kong to New York's Seventh Avenue probably will be knocking out copies of his new midi late day dresses.

Saint Laurent found a niche for the much-maligned midcalf dress. He made an unbelled slender printed crepe dress with a high mandarin neckline tied at one shoulder into a scarf, long puffed sleeves and a flaring hemline.

Over the mannequin's shoulder was tossed an ostrich scarf dyed to match the black-white print, the big trend in furs and feathers in Paris during this week's collection. Her shoes were copper with the highest, skinniest heels in Paris and on her short hair was the prewar tiny veiled hat.

Saint Laurent also gave his blessing to another new evening length to hit the Paris winter shows, a bit above the ankles. Thus for late afternoon to ultra formal evening his hemlines varied from midi to the floor. Press and buyers cheered and applauded the small collection until the spectacled designer, hair shorter than usual, came from backstage in his salon to smile with the air of a man who knows he has another success.

KIP GARVEY

Caller Is Named

Kip Garvey of North Andover, Mass., associate caller for Lefooters Square Dance Club, will make his first appearance of this season Friday at 8 p.m. The dance is planned at Hurley Reformed Church Hall, off Route 209.

Garvey began his calling experience by completing a class with Paul Pratt. In 1965, he became caller for the Y-L Cats Teenage Club and, in 1966, he was engaged as club caller for the Scarlet Squares of Saugerties, Mass.

Square dance calling became a means to an end when he entered Merrimac College to major in Business Mathematics. He applied all his calling fees to his tuition, and those fees accounted for about three-quarters of his total tuition costs. He was graduated from Merrimac College in June, 1968, and began his teaching career in the Quabog Regional High School which serves Warren and West Brookfield, Mass.

He is a member of Tri-States Callers Association, Square Dance Callers Association of Southern California, and the New England Council of Callers Association.

All club level dancers are invited.

1974 Chevrolet

A better-than-ever way.

When the wheel belongs to you, the road goes anywhere you say. And it's so much better with a '74 Chevrolet.

Caprice Classic. Introducing an elegant motor car, just asking to be enjoyed. Outside: an imposing new grille and, on the Coupe, a distinctive new roof line. Inside: peace, quiet and convenience. With standard power steering to do most of the turning, standard power front disc brakes to do most of the stopping, and a standard Turbo Hydra-matic transmission to do the shifting. If you want the luxury and comfort of a car that leaves little else for you to do but enjoy the ride, you don't have to look beyond the '74 Caprice Classic. However, the freedom of the open road begins with the freedom of choice:

Monte Carlo. You'd think its looks were everything, until you drive it. It has steel-belted radial tires and a refined radial-tuned suspension. Power steering and power front disc brakes. We think you'll appreciate how well it handles, how smoothly it rides. For it's as elegant mechanically as it is in appearance.

Vega GT. This year's version of last year's Motor Trend Economy Car of the Year. (And Car and Driver Readers' Choice as Best Economy Sedan for the last three years.) With a reshaped nose, bigger bumpers, nicer carpeting, new stripes and new colors. Plus more good things to make it better. See what it's like to drive a winner.

Camaro. The way it looks is the way it goes. Quick, sleek and nimble. With a low, wide stance, responsive steering. And comfort that's rare in a car that handles so well. Plus classic new styling, and plushness from the cut-pile carpeting up.

Malibu Classic. A luxury Chevelle, new this year. With full foam seats. A fold-down front armrest. Wood-grained vinyl accents. Elegant inner door panels. Extremely tasteful upholstery and cut-pile nylon carpeting. That's just inside. The exterior is just as classic, in character and in detail, as the interior. Yet, it remains mid-size. And, it remains all Chevelle. With Chevelle handling and at a Chevelle price. Now that you've looked, come and see the new Malibu Classic—and all the 1974 Chevrolets. The ones shown here, plus Impala, Nova, Corvette, pickups, vans and all our new cars and trucks.

Winslow - York Nuptials Held

Carol Ann Winslow, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George B. Winslow of Union Center Road, Ulster Park, became the bride of William M. York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Myron S. York of St. Remy, on Sunday Sept. 16.

The Rev. Harvey I. Todd officiated at the ceremony at Union Center Community Church. Miss Kathleen D. Nevers provided wedding selections. The bride's sisters, Beverly J. Stokes and Linda York, sang traditional songs.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown and veil which she had designed. They were made by her mother. The gown was fashioned of dotted swiss in the princess line. It was trimmed with seed pearls and featured a high neckline and long bishop sleeves. A silk illusion leaf headpiece highlighted with beads held her nylon illusion veil. She carried a nosegay of white carnations, pink baby's breath, red roses and ivy.

Miss Cynthia Aho of Ulster Park was maid of honor. Sharon Lynn York, niece of the bride and bridegroom, was flower girl. They wore lookalike gowns of nylon sheer with multi-colored flowers of pink, white and yellow. The gowns which were styled with high necklines featured ruffles on the skirts. The maid of honor wore a wide rimmed hat and carried a basket of carnations, blue straw flowers, baby's breath and pink sweetheart roses. The flower girl wore a floral head barrette and carried a white basket of carnations and baby's breath with blue straw flowers. The gowns and hat were also made by the bride's mother.

Thomas Harrison of Kingston was best man. Ushers were John C. York, brother of the bridegroom; Orlando Landi, both of St. Remy; and Joseph Landi of Ulster Park.

A reception was given at Vineyard Lodge in Ulster Park.

The bride, a graduate of Kingston High School, received her Associate Degree from Ulster County Community College. She is employed in the Accounting Division of Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in Kingston.

Her husband, an alumnus of KHS, is employed by New York Telephone Company in Kingston.

The couple will reside at 7 Wendell Road in Woodstock.

Kentucky Wedding Is Announced Here

Miss Cheri Northcutt and Jay Howard Ackert were married August 3 at the Williamson Baptist Church in Fiskburg, Ky. The bride is the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Benson, Morning View, Ky, and the daughter of Mrs. Thomas McCardwell, Ft. Mitchell, Ky, and the late Charles Northcutt. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. George E. Ackert of New Paltz.

The double ring, candlelight ceremony was performed by the Rev. William Barnard of Alexandria, Ky.

The bride was given in marriage by her grandfather and was attended by her sisters. Miss Trudy Northcutt was maid of honor. Miss Judy Northcutt and Miss Cindy Northcutt served as bridesmaids.

G. Jeffrey Ackert of New Paltz was best man for his brother. Ushers were J. Joseph Williams of Gardiner and Charles Northcutt brother of the bride, of Morning View, Ky.

Dear Abby: Answers and Advice for 'Empty Arms'

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN
© 1973 by Chicago Tribune.
N. Y. News Synd., Inc.

DEAR ABBY: The letter signed "Empty Arms" moved me. (She was the mother who gave up her illegitimate child for adoption, and wondered if the ache would ever go away.)

My husband and I were childless until some incredibly kind and unselfish mother gave up her newborn baby, who an agency placed in our home. My husband and I are to raise this beautiful little girl in a home filled with love and happiness. When she starts to ask questions, I shall tell her about her wonderful, generous "other mother" who loved her so much she gave her up.

I only wish I could tell our "other mother" that I would have given anything in the world to have shared her burden during the pregnancy and the birth, and how eternally grateful I am for her enormous sacrifice.

Abby, please tell "Empty Arms" that, anonymous though she is, I love her with all my heart, and pray that her arms, like mine, will soon be overflowing.

OVERFLOWING

DEAR ABBY: I, too, had "Empty Arms" when I gave up my fatherless child 13 years ago. But every year the ache grows more bearable.

I was only 16 then. But I kept my self-respect, went back to school, and worked my way thru college as a waitress.

I am now married to a prominent man in public life, and we have a wonderful family of our own. (Yes, he knew all about me, and it made no difference.) Every year on my first-born's birthday I suffer just a little, but I have no regrets because, in my heart, I know I made the right decision. Time heals. And so does love.

BEEN THERE

DEAR ABBY: That "Empty Arms" letter hit me right between the eyes. How I envy her courage and good sense.

When I was young and foolish, I thought I was in love and gave myself to a man who skipped town as soon as I told him I was pregnant.

In those days only the rich could afford abortions, so I had to bear a child I didn't want. I felt my baby would be better off if I gave him to a couple who really wanted a child, but my mother talked me out of it. She said God would punish me for giving up my own flesh and blood.

I had to work two jobs to make ends meet, so my mother, who was a widow, raised my son. He didn't turn out very good. In fact, he's serving time right now for armed robbery, but it's not all his fault. He never had a father's love and guidance. I want to congratulate "Empty Arms" for doing what she did. I'm sorry I didn't give my son a better break in life.

TOO LATE

DEAR ABBY: Tell "Empty Arms" for me that she can get over the ache of having given up her child, but it will take a lot of self-discipline.

I could have written that letter myself 15 years ago, and I confess, I read it thru GUILD ARTIST SHOW — Members of National Hairdressers and Cosmetologists Association held their dinner and Guild Artist Show at Dutch Rathskeller in Kingston on Sunday, Sept. 16. Larry Settlerlee of Utica, new member, was guild artist. The afternoon of professional education included a presentation of new fall and winter hair fashions. Serving as model was Lyn Arone of Saugerties, pictured here with Settlerlee and Irene Mance, left, president of local Affiliate No. 69. Shirley Keener spoke about National Beauty Salon Week and upcoming events which the Affiliate is planning during Oct. 1-7. A special project sponsored by the group will benefit Ulster County Association for Children With Learning Disabilities.

Mrs. Harriet Greenspan of Valentine Court, Kingston, announces the engagement of her daughter, Bonnie, to George Dougherty, son of Mrs. May Dougherty of Clinton Avenue, Kingston, and the late George Dougherty.

Miss Greenspan was graduated cum laude from Ithaca College with a BS degree and completed her master's degree in Speech Pathology and Audiology at George Washington University, Washington, D.C., in May.

Her fiancé, a 1971 alumnus of State University of New York at Geneseo, is in his junior year of Dental School at Georgetown University in Washington, D.C. A November wedding is planned.

DEAR ABBY: Tell "Empty Arms" for me that she can get over the ache of having given up her child, but it will take a lot of self-discipline.

Woman's Club Looks to the Stars

Do you know what is meant by the Houses? What is a Horoscope? What are the Planets? What are the signs? How is a horoscope "read"? These and many other questions of Astrology will be answered by Mrs. Joyce Orser at a public meeting of Saugerties Woman's Club, to be held September 27 at 8 p.m. The club will meet in Trinity Episcopal Parish House, Barclay Heights.

Mrs. Orser will discuss the traditional interpretation of reading charts and will show how these will probably help to form a new basis for horoscopic interpretation. According to Mrs. Orser, "Astrology most likely may prove to be the father of a new science which some have referred to as Cosmobiology. Astrology . . . is definitely a working tool, among many, for self-knowledge and inner growth."

According to a well-known Chicago physician of 40 years, one of the reasons for the current astrological fascination is a trend to increasing dissatisfaction with depersonalized medicine and science, and frustration with what doctors and scientists cannot accomplish. "Science can teach men how to master space or harness atomic energy, but very often cannot teach men how to master their hostility or control their psychic energy, that mysterious force known variously as passion, love, or libido," the doctor has stated. Mrs. Orser holds a BA in Fine Arts from Syracuse University where she minored in Italian and English.

For the past 16 years she has done extensive research in the psychic fields and has experienced many unusual occurrences related to pre-cognitive dreams.

An interest in nutrition, the study of foods, mineral and vitamin content, color relationships, folk remedies, separation of fact from fad, is one of Mrs. Orser's avocations. Block printing on linen, traveling, and gardening are some of her other hobbies.

Mrs. Joyce Lauffer, membership chairman, invites all members of the community to come and share in what promises to be an exciting experience.

An art show and mum festival will be held October 14 at Seamon's Park. Any person desiring to enter works should contact Mrs. Helen Sullivan, chairman, or Mrs. Mary Finger, co-chairman.

TOPIC IS ASTROLOGY — The Woman's Club of Saugerties will be entertained Thursday, Sept. 27 at 8 p.m. with an address by Mrs. Joyce Orser, at left, whose topic will be Astrology. Mrs. Frank Lauffer, right, chairman of the membership committee, was given a preview of Mrs. Orser's talk when they met recently for lunch. The club meeting will take the place of the annual tea. Upcoming plans will be announced. (Freeman photo by Kruh)

McLaughlins Are Guests of Honor

On Saturday evening, Sept. 8, Mr. and Mrs. James McLaughlin Sr. of Cementon were given a surprise anniversary dinner party by their children, Mary Ann McLaughlin, a registered nurse now employed as Ward Manager of Pediatrics at Desert Hospital, Palm Springs, Calif., and James McLaughlin, Jr., a second year graduate student at the University of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia, Pa. Dinner was served at the BonFire Restaurant, Cairo. Members of Mrs. McLaughlin's family in attendance included her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Misetich of Cementon, her sister and brother-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Carmine A. Ruzzi, Jr., of Catskill, and her brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Ronald J. Misetich of Catskill. Also attending was Mrs. Vincent McLaughlin of Quarryville, sister-in-law of Mr. McLaughlin, friends of the family, David Faelz and Vincent Yenkelum of Philadelphia.

After the dinner party, an open house reception was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin for approximately 40 friends and neighbors.

Mr. and Mrs. McLaughlin received many congratulatory gifts and messages.

MR. AND MRS. SAYLIE FERRARO of 356 Broadway, Kingston, observed their 50th wedding anniversary Sunday, Sept. 16, at the Capri '400' Restaurant in Port Ewen. Married Sept. 20, 1923 in St. Mary's Church, Kingston, by the Rev. Joseph B. Scully, their attendants were Mrs. Rose Verducci of New Jersey and the late Jasper Martallo. They are the parents of a daughter, Mary Ferraro. Mrs. Ferraro is the former Angeline Martallo. Her husband, a barber for the past 55 years, operates Saylie's Barber Shop in Kingston. Relatives attended from Louisiana, Maryland, Florida and New Jersey, as well as from surrounding areas. (Freeman photo by Powell)

There's a revolution in today's world of fine jewelry. What counts to the modern woman is beauty, not pretension—value, not price. The beauty of LINDE Stars lies in colors that rival nature's, in the six-rayed star that comes alive under light. Only LINDE Stars are identified by an L engraved in the back or on the mounting.

HINTS FROM Heloise

By HELOISE CRUISE
GRANNY'S RECIPE FOR A GOOD TRIP!

Dear Heloise:

My little grandson had the bad fortune to break his leg while visiting us, and ended up in a cast from his hip to ankle. When he was able to make the trip home — a matter of 1,000 miles, I fixed up a "goodybag" for him. I bought gum, mints, individual packs of cheese crackers, cookies, peanut-cracker sandwiches, a magic slate, comic books, a finger puppet, etc. Then, using odds and ends of gift paper and ribbon, I wrapped them all individually.

I labeled each item with the name of a city they would go through and made a list of the cities for his mother to follow. He was to open the gift as they passed through the city that "wore" its name!

My daughter-in-law said that just about the time he finished the snack or tired of the toy, they would begin seeing signs advertising the next city on the list and he would get excited, wondering what his next surprise would be.

She also said that what would certainly have been a long, tedious trip for all concerned, turned out to be almost fun — under the circumstances.

Betty L. Swicher

Dear Heloise:

When making pizza, rather than greasing my fingers and hands to spread out the dough on the pan, I spoon the dough on center of greased pan, then sprinkle the top with flour. I then spread the dough to edges of pan, eliminating greasy fingers and hands. A child's rolling pin could also be used to roll the dough out.

S.W.

Dear Heloise:

If you have a job to go to in the mornings, get organized before you go to bed. Lay out your underwear in a pile the way you put it on — in my case — girdle on top, then hose, bra and slip last.

Get out your shoes, and change things to tomorrow's handbag. Select your jewelry and put it on the dresser.

Know what dress you're going to wear before you go to bed.

A Fan

Dear Heloise:

Recently your shared a letter with us from a woman who put bathtub appliques on her baby's highchair tray to keep the baby entertained.

Well, this prompted me to send you my own tested and proved hint for keeping baby in that highchair.

All mothers know a "just-learning - how - to - sit - alone baby's tends to slump and slide right out of the high chair.

When my youngest was at that stage I too used bathtub appliques — but on the seat of the highchair.

And it really worked!

This could save many babies from dangerous falls.

Used along with the safety belt that comes on most highchairs, this idea should protect even the most rambunctious little one.

Mrs. R. Cocking

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Heloise: My mother made the hardest and worst cookies you ever tasted. To soften them, she put them in a tight can with a piece of apple. This made them very soft and edible.

Unfortunately, they still taste terrible!

Donald Simon

Dear Heloise: Assign chores — according to age and ability — it's amazing what 5- and six-year-olds can do when trained properly.

Everyone picks up after himself and keeps his own room neat and bed made — "A place for everything and everything in its place."

An awfully hard rule to get full cooperation on, but it's surely worth a try!

Alice M.

THIS COLUMN is written for you, . . . the housewife and homemaker. If you have a hint or a problem write to Heloise in care of The Daily Freeman. Because of the tremendous volume of mail, Heloise is unable to answer all individual letters. She will, however, answer your questions in her column whenever possible.

Oldsmobile at Berzal's Thursday

The 1974 Oldsmobiles, featuring a new Salon series and extensive design changes in the Delta 88 and Delta 88 Royale hardtop coupes will go on display Thursday, Sept. 20, at Berzal Oldsmobile Pontiac, Inc., 138 Ulster Avenue in Saugerties.

appearance including flush-mounted taillights. And all 98s have a new front appearance with large dual grilles mounted in the fiberglass front end panel.

Another new model formerly offered only as an option is the front-drive Toronado Broughm. Velour fabrics in five colors and white vinyl are available on the standard 60/40 front seats with dual controls. Center armrests front and rear also are standard.

Exterior design changes for 1974 in the Oldsmobile line are most extensive in the Delta 88 and Delta 88 Royale hardtop coupes.

The compact Omega, introduced in 1973, has received a few front end appearance changes including a bright-plated die-cast grille with a hydraulic energy-absorbing bumper system front and rear replacing the rigid system used last year.

And all 1974 Oldsmobile models are equipped with the hydraulic energy-absorbing front and rear bumpers, and combined lap and shoulder belt restraint system including speed and cooling or heating modes.

A new air conditioning control. And for 1974, front disc system is available on all full-size Oldsmobiles in 1974. Called Turbo Hydra-matic Trans-Tempomatic, the simplified mission are standard on all control provides automatic intermediate and full-size temperature control along with Oldsmobiles and optional on the a manual selection of blower Omega models.

Area Business News

The 1974 lineup also includes a new Ninety-Eight coupe, a Toronado Broughm, two new intermediate station wagons and a long list of engineering advancements.

The Cutlass Salon, introduced in 1973 as a option on the Cutlass Supreme sedan, has become a full-fledged series with the addition of a coupe for 1974.

All intermediate models for the 1974 feature new grilles, bumpers and rear end ap-

JEROME B. GARDNER

BERT C. SANDERS

VITO POCOROBBA

GERARD W. SHERRIFF

Business Newsmakers

Three additional promotions have been announced at Ferroxcube Corporation in Saugerties.

They include:

Jerome B. Gardner, appointed as assistant plant engineer.

Gerard W. Sherriff, named model shop supervisor.

Vito Pocarobba, named as maintenance supervisor.

Gardner, a lifetime resident of Saugerties, joined Ferroxcube in July 1952 and has responsibility for a variety of plant engineering assignments in the interim. He is married. He and his wife, Kathleen, are the parents of two children.

Sherriff joined the firm in October 1965 after holding various jobs associated with the machining trade. Sherriff and his wife, Barbara, reside in Glenford with their two children.

Pocarobba has been with Ferroxcube since May 1957 and has had the responsibility for a variety of maintenance assignments since then. A resident of Palenville, Pocarobba resides there with his wife, Catherine, also an employee of Ferroxcube.

Ferroxcube Corp. is the leading manufacturer of professional grade ferrite products in the United States.

Bert C. Sanders of Clifton Park, has been appointed manager of industrial relations for V.A.W. of America, Inc., Ellenville, according to an announcement made by Manfred Schroeder, president and Maurice Roberts, executive vice-president.

Sanders brings to V.A.W. more than 25 years of diversified experience in labor relations and personnel administration. For the last four years he has been director of personnel for Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy.

In his post, Sanders assumes the responsibility for recruitment, employment, wage and salary administration, group benefit plans, training, safety, security, general personnel administration, employee relations and union relations. Sanders is a personnel consultant for the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, a member of the President's Committee for Employment of the Handicapped and recently was confirmed as a mediator for the Public Employees Relations Board (PERB) for the state.

Sanders, his wife, Ann, and two of their three children will be relocating in Ulster County this fall.

Robert M. Dunnewold, representative for Mutual of Omaha and Companion Life of New York in Accord, has been recognized as one of the Top 10 representatives for Companion in company-wide competition for July. Dunnewold is associated with the John R. Risko Agency, general agency for Mutual and Companion in Poughkeepsie.

Thomas J. Norton has been appointed executive vice-president of the $300 Million Poughkeepsie Savings Bank, according to Charles B. Grubb, president. Norton, who has been a senior vice-president with Carteret Savings of Newark, N.J., will assume his new duties Sept. 17. Norton has been credited with initiating the New Jersey Mortgage Finance Agency which Gov. William T. Cahill noted was one of the most satisfying accomplishments of his administration. Norton is a member of the Corporate Advisory Committee of Upsala College, treasurer of the greater Newark March of Dimes and has been active with the Robert Treat Council Boy Scouts of America. Norton and his wife, Rose, and their five children, reside at 7 Eden Terrace.

Dr. Palaniappan Arumugham of Madras, India, recently became associated with Dr. E. F. MacFadden Jr., 98 Fair Street, in the practice of pediatrics. After a year of practice in India, he came to the U.S. in 1966 when he started his American training at Misericordia Hospital, New York City. Dr. Arumugham spent two years of pediatric residency at Kings County Hospital and the Downstate Medical Center and later was chief resident in pediatrics at Coney Island Hospital. He was a Fellow in Pediatric Cardiology at NYU Medical Center from 1970 to 1972 and before coming to Kingston was clinical instructor in pediatrics and Pediatric Cardiology at the Albert Einstein College of Medicine, New York City. He and his wife, also a physician, reside with their two children in the Lake Katrine Apartments.

Franklin A. Thomas, president of the Bedford Stuyvesant Restoration Corp., has been elected to the board of directors of the New York Telephone Co. He formerly served as an attorney for the Federal Housing and Home Finance Agency and subsequently served as assistant U.S. attorney for the Southern District of New York.

Charles Denkensohn and Mike Provenzano of Accord recently returned from Mutual of New York's Top Club conference held in San Diego, Calif. Participants qualified to attend by ranking among the top 10 percent of MONY's 4,000-man national field force in sales results during 1972. The two life insurance specialists are associated with MONY's Poughkeepsie agency.

Paul DeLisio, Woodstock; Jesse Cohen, Kerhonkson and Wilfred Doolittle, Rosendale, have qualified as members of the 1973 Star Club of New York Life Insurance Co. The Star Club is composed of New York Life agents who achieved significant sales records in 1972.

Carl Bennett, chairman and president of Caldor, Inc., will be honored at "dinner of state" Oct. 2 at the Rye Town Hilton Inn in Port Chester. The dinner is being sponsored by the State of Israel. Bennett will receive the only Prime Minister's silver anniversary award ever presented by the State of Israel in the State of Connecticut, recognizing Bennett's many humanitarian activities on behalf of the Jewish communities both here and abroad. The Caldor chain includes a store on Ulster Avenue Mall.

Wallace's Closing Schenectady Store

SPRINGFIELD, MASS.

Wallace's will discontinue operations in its downtown store in Schenectady, sometime after the Christmas holiday season.

Announcement of this was made by Laurence R. Wallace, chairman and Harvey Sanford, president of Forbes and Wallace of Springfield, Mass.

Their statement follows: "The decision to do so has been made with great regret in view of the friendly relations Wallace's has enjoyed in Schenectady since 1909."

The management and associates of Wallace's would like to express to the people of Schenectady and surrounding areas gratitude for their support and interest expressed in so many ways throughout the years."

Another Wallace store is located in Kingston, N.Y., in the Ulster Shopping Plaza.

Musiker Back From Meeting In Honolulu

Sidney Musiker of Musiker Toyota Inc., East Chester Street Bypass, has just returned from a national Toyota Dealer meeting in Hawaii.

Musiker joined some 2,700 other dealers, Toyota employees and their wives at the huge meeting in Honolulu which was highlighted by a preview of the entire 1974 line of Toyota cars and trucks.

"The new line of Toyotas is the best we have ever had, and we are looking forward to a highly successful sales year," Musiker said.

The event marked the first time Toyota dealers, some 900 of them, met in one place.

It took five hotels, 24 chartered airlines, and the airlift of 20 new Toyotas from Japan and the United States to carry out the massive four-day meeting.

Legislature Candidate

Mrs. Weiss Pledges 'Accountability'

CONNIE WEISS

WOODSTOCK
Democratic candidate Connie Weiss, seeking to represent the Towns of Woodstock, Shandaken, Hardenburgh and Denning in the Ulster County Legislature, has cited "accountability" as one of her major aims.
She also said she is seeking clear communication between the voters and the County Legislature, imaginative ideas, and the best possible solutions to increasingly complex needs.

A Woodstock resident for 14 years, Mrs. Weiss is a former director of the Woodstock Artists Association, and she chaired the 1973 Woodstock Library Fair.
An assistant reading teacher at the Phoenicia Elementary School for five years, she also served as the first social worker for the Onteora Central Schools Headstart program.

"That experience," she says, "brought me closer to the needs and problems of the more rural population of Ulster County."
The holder of a BA degree in Education, she is working toward her MA degree at Columbia University.
As a legislator, she hopes to translate her involvement with the economic, social, and cultural problems she has encountered into political effectiveness.

She states, "I am aware that a wide range of economic, social and cultural requirements must be served in this county; that these interests require objective, long-range planning. I am aware that voters have a deep concern regarding employment, taxes, job training and housing. I share these concerns, and I know, too, that most voters feel excluded from the process of planning and decision-making of the Ulster County Legislature."

She also pledged to make herself available to report on the workings of the County Legislature, so that people would be better able to hold it accountable "for programs that are supposed to meet the county's social, economic and cultural needs."

Assemblyman Olivieri

Dems Guest Speaker

KINGSTON The guest speaker at the City of Kingston Democratic Committee's 11th Annual Fund Raising Dinner on Saturday will be Antonio G. Olivieri, (D-L), State Assemblyman from the 66th District in Manhattan, dinner chairman Joseph Epstein announced today.

The first Democrat to represent the 66th Assembly District since 1913, Olivieri was elected to the New York State

ANTONIO OLIVIERI

Assembly in 1970. During his three years in the Assembly, he has introduced or co-sponsored over 200 pieces of legislation, the scope of which transcends several major issues of social concern; including Finance, Crime and Safer Streets, Narcotics and Housing, to cite a few.

Upon graduating from Harvard College and Columbia Law School, Olivieri joined the New York law firm of Winthrop, Stinson, Putnam and Roberts, where his area of specialty was in finance. He maintained his position with the firm until his election to the Assembly.

Assemblyman Olivieri is a member of the Assembly Health and Conservation Committees and the Joint Legislative Committee for Higher Education. He is a member of the Board of Directors of the Parks Council, the New York State Council on Alcoholism, Inc., ACCEPT, and is the founder of People for Central Park. He is on the Advisory Board of the Fortune Society, and is a member of the American Jewish Congress. He is also chairman of the Community Health Forum. He and his wife, the former Frances Reese, have a son and a daughter.

Demmel Seeks Tax Collector Job in Kingston

TOWN OF KINGSTON Thomas M. Demmel of Sweet Meadows, RD 2, Kingston, has applied to be appointed tax collector for the Town of Kingston.

In a letter to Supervisor Kenneth Whispell, Demmel noted that he had more than 20 credit hours in accounting and six years of accounting experience at IBM, operates his own part-time bookkeeping service business and that he subcontracts bookkeeping work through a Kingston accounting firm.

Demmel, a town resident for over 11 years, has been active in town affairs and has served on the town board and county planning board. He is currently a candidate for the tax collector's position on the Conservative and Democratic tickets.

Referring to the previous tax collector, the late Hazel Burton, Demmel said in his letter to Whispell that the town had been fortunate in recent years to have a conscientious and hard-working tax collector.

"I would appreciate the opportunity to continue this high standard of performance in this office," Demmel said.

"In line with our constant efforts to hold down town expenses and taxes, I will gladly serve out the remainder of the year without compensation until the next duly elected tax collector takes office Jan. 1, 1974."

member of the law firm of Rosenblum and Lamb of Saugerties, he resides there with his wife Joann and daughter Melissa.

Mrs. Peetoom is a graduate of Watertown High School and St. Lawrence University. Active in community affairs, she is a past president of the League of Women Voters, a vestryman of Trinity Episcopal Church, and a member of Trinity Church Women. She is co-chairman of the 1973 Seamon Park Chrysanthemum Festival, first vice president of the Asbury Fire Company Auxiliary, and formerly served as fund raiser for the Heart Fund, Cancer Crusade, Cub Scout Pack 37, and Trinity Church.

She and her husband, William A. Peetoom, reside at Route 1, Asbury, with their two sons, William and Jeffrey. Mrs. Peetoom is presently employed as secretary for Peter P. Stoly Inc. of Malden.

Saugerties GOP Lists Leaders

Timothy Murphy of Barclay Heights and Mrs. Jennifer Peetoom of Asbury have been named coordinators of campaign activities for the November election by the Saugerties Town Republican Committee.

Donald R. McCaig, Republican town chairman, said that both appointees have outstanding records in civic and community affairs. "The Republican Party is fortunate to have them join its campaign team," McCaig said.

Murphy is a graduate of Saugerties High School, Siena College, and Albany Law School. He has served as legislative assistant to Assemblyman H. Clark Bell and also as an assistant to the Assembly's Select Committee on Local Government.

A Republican committeeman from District 11, Murphy was campaign coordinator for Assemblyman H. Clark Bell in the 1972 Assembly campaign.

Nersesian Hits Taxes In Town of Rochester

Arthur R. Nersesian Sr., of Clove Valley Road, High Falls, has made a comparison of tax rates in New York City with those of the Town of Rochester.

Nersesian notes that the tax rate in New York City is $68.94 per thousand of assessed valuation, and that taxes on a property assessed at $9,600 are $661.80. This includes school tax, he points out, and taxes may be paid quarterly.

Services included are paid police and fire departments, paid sanitation department, city water, sewage, and lighting, sidewalks and curbs, and many other services, he points out.

Nersesian says that the tax rate for the Town of Rochester, $215.51 per thousand, means that taxes on property assessed at $9,000 amount to $1,931.69.

"Taxes cannot be paid quarterly," he notes. "Town roads are mostly in poor condition, and some should be closed because of the danger to life, limb, and property."

"Ask yourself just what else you receive for your taxes besides some ridiculous answers or excuses," he continues. "Our 1973 school taxes have increased over 17 per cent and the school tax rate is now up to $137.654 per thousand of assessed valuation."

Conservative Cites 'Fear' In Dems, GOP

ROSENDALE "I cannot understand the total deep-rooted fear of the Republican and Democratic Parties with a total town enrollment of 2,100, challenging the Conservative Party with a Rosen- dale enrollment of approximately 50," William A. Jackson, Ulster County Conservative Party Chairman said today.

Jackson was commenting on the recent announced ban on Conservative cross-endorsements in the town.

"What about the Liberal, Communist, Socialist Workers or Independent Parties? Are their endorsements alright?" Jackson asked.

He said he felt it is obvious that the endorsement of a major party is insurance, but not necessary. He recalled that U.S. Sen. James L. Buckley could not have been elected if it were not for the Conservative Party putting a Republican in their line. He also recalled the Ulster County Republican Committee for Buckley.

"Maybe 'we try harder,'" Jackson suggested. "or could it be that the Republican and Democratic Parties are trying to keep good candidates that do not subscribe to the personal philosophy of the present chairman off the ballot and away from the voter," he said.

Tributes Planned

Democrats of the seventh legislative district, encompassing the towns of Wawarsing and Shawangunk, will honor past party officials during a Sunday, Sept. 30 buffet at the Fallsview Hotel.

Tribute will be paid to Chester McDowell, a 44-year committeeman, and Mattie Schoonmaker, a veteran inspector. Posthumous honors will be given to the late James Furman, a former committeeman and town councilman as well as to Edward Shore, a committeeman for nearly a quarter of a century. The buffet will be served at 6:30 p.m. with awards and program starting at 8:30. Tickets are available from any committeeman.

They will compete for some 3,100 Merit Scholarships to be awarded next spring. In the 18 annual competitions completed to date, 34,450 students have won Merit Scholarships valued at more than $95.5 million. Ulster County students reaching semifinalist status include:

Culver to Retire As Vets Counselor

KINGSTON Charles L. Culver, state veteran's counselor, Division of Veteran's Affairs, will retire from his post Oct. 3, after 16 years state service. Culver, a licensed real estate salesman, will then enter the fields of income tax preparation and real estate in association with Edward J. Noonan, Kingston real estate broker. As state veteran's counselor, Culver was concerned with all veteran's benefits not only for servicemen but for their dependents and survivors. He is a 22 and one-half year veteran of the U.S. Navy having been a commissioned warrant officer (CWO3) and spent one year with the U.S. Army. He served in the field of aviation and has been on all continents with the exception of Australia during an 18-year period. Culver and his wife, Ruth, reside at 71 Linderman Avenue, Kingston and are the parents of four children and grand-children of two. Two children are married and two are at home.

Athletic Dept. Busy In Ellenville School

ELLENVILLE and junior varsity teams, gymnastics, cheerleading, volleyball, bowling and skiing. The fall season consists mainly of football, cross-country, and field hockey for girls. The athletic department indicated that it would be "most happy" if more students participated in the programs, particularly in football, cross-country, wrestling, track, tennis and bowling. Superintendent of Schools Thomas J. Hayden noted that, in addition to the Federal offerings during the summer, the school swimming pool accommodated between 250 and 300 youngsters a day, and that the use of the school grounds and facilities made it possible for the Marist Brothers to offer their program to the youth of the community. A recent survey by the Ellenville Central School District has indicated that the staff of the athletic department alone handled nearly 1,000 young people in after-school activities. The survey was made to determine the use of school for other than regular day school instruction. According to district officials, it is not unusual for several hundred boys and girls to be participating in organized activities on the school's athletic fields in the spring or fall. In the spring, from 75 to 100 girls participate in field hockey, soft ball, archery and tennis. The winter season at Ellenville, according to district officials, emphasizes wrestling and basketball, with junior high

Marbletown Seeks New Wonderly Plant

By JON POWERS

STONE RIDGE
If the Town of Rosendale doesn't want the new Wonderly manufacturing plant, then the Town of Marbletown surely does.

Marbletown Supervisor Kenneth Smith has already approached Clyde Wonderly, touting the advantages of moving his firm to the Stone Ridge area. But Wonderly says he's still leaning towards Rosendale.

Wonderly Co., Inc., a drapery manufacturing plant now located in Kingston, had sought a variance from the Rosendale Town Board that would permit construction of a new 15,000-square-foot building on an 18-acre tract of land on the east side of Route 32 in Bloomington. The variance was needed because the property in question is currently zoned residential. After holding a public hearing on the plan, and receiving an 82-signature petition from townspeople opposed to the rezoning request, the Town Board last week denied Wonderly's application.

That seemingly opened the door for the Town of Marbletown, which has been actively seeking new commercial and industrial concerns for the past several years. Marbletown, in fact, has a 60-acre area off Lu-cal use as an added attraction for prospective businesses.

Wonderly told the Freeman this week, however, that he still has his sights set on the Rosendale property, despite the Town Board's rejection last week. "We're taking matters into our own hands," he said.

What that may mean, in part, is that Wonderly is considering an appeal of the Town Board's decision. But no one, including

Wonderly, said he's "looking for a sure course that appeal take whatever legal steps are derly says all the facts weren't considered by the town board I would like to add Wonderly to that list."

In the meantime, the door Wonderly is interested, and perhaps flattered, but it's still "premature" to look seriously at the Maribetown site... as long as there still may be a chance in Rosendale.

Award $83,000 In '66 Car Death

NEW PALTZ, a left turn. After the impact, the Merwin car reportedly went out of control and collided with a truck owned by Jennings Construction Company, Rt. 28, Kingston and driven by Walter Oehler.

The settlement awarded $70,000 to Joel Halwick and $5,000 to his mother, Mary Ellen DuBois of Kingston. The remaining $8,000 is for court costs and interest.

The Halwick boy and his mother, represented by Michael Nardone with law offices in Kingston, Highland and Poughkeepsie, were the plaintiffs in the case against Rose DiDonna and her husband Joseph DiDonna and Elizabeth Merwin, administrator for the estate of the deceased, George E. Merwin Jr., and Jennings Construction Company.

The jury found no cause for action against George Merwin Jr. or Jennings Construction.

According to police reports, Merwin and his passenger, Joel Halwick were traveling north on Ulster Avenue Mall near Modernity and were in collision with a car owned by Joseph DiDonna and driven by Rose DiDonna of Kingston. Mrs. DiDonna, was allegedly traveling south and attempting to make

After the first trial in January 1971 the jury awarded $50,000 to the Halwick boy and $10,000 to his mother. Counsel for the DiDonnas, Levenson, Jenkins and Cassidy of Newburgh appealed the verdict to the Appellate Division, Third Judicial District and the Appellate Division reversed the verdict by a 3 to 2 vote.

A new trial was then ordered and in March 1972 a jury awarded $70,000 to the Halwick boy and $5,000 to his mother. The case was appealed again in the case against Rose DiDonna and her husband Joseph DiDonna and Elizabeth Merwin, administrator for the estate of the deceased, George E. Merwin Jr., and Jennings Construction Company.

The case was finally settled with the payment of the $83,000. Elizabeth Merwin as administrator for George Merwin was represented by Carter and Conboy of Albany. Jennings was represented by Elfron, Goldberg and Trezza of Poughkeepsie.

The case then went to the Court of Appeals where Nardone made a successful motion for dismissal. The case was finally settled with the payment of the $83,000. Elizabeth Merwin as administrator for George Merwin was represented by Carter and Conboy of Albany. Jennings was represented by Elfron, Goldberg and Trezza of Poughkeepsie.

$323,441 to Ulster In Manpower Aid

KINGSTON arranged through an agreement between Ulster County and the Y.M.C.A. of Kingston and Ulster County. The In-School Program is designed to provide work experience for young people to enable them to complete their high school education. Those employed will be working after school hours as clerical aides, program aides, library aides, maintenance aides and general school aides.

This is the first time either program has been in operation in Ulster County, according to Savago. Both of these programs will eventually come under Special Manpower Revenue Sharing when enacted by the federal government.

Approval is anticipated for the Neighborhood Youth Corps Out-of-School program. This will provide work experience and employability training for at least 12 high school dropouts as clerical aides, program aides and maintenance aides. Ulster County Ancillary Manpower Planning Board headed by Randall is currently in negotiation with state and federal officials to provide a School Program of the Neighborhood Youth Corps and in-act institutional program for the hiring of 95 persons, eight persons to fill vacancies. The latter program has been

A total of 51 persons will be hired for Operation Mainstream through the County Manpower Office, Robert C. Randall, administrator said. Interviews for the positions are currently underway.

The jobs include park aides in county and town parks; clerical aides; maintenance aides; nurses aides and tax man aides.

The second portion of $106,652, will go into the In-School Program of the Neighborhood Youth Corps and in-act institutional program for the hiring of 95 persons, eight persons to fill vacancies. The latter program has been

Personnel Board Accepts Johnson Resignation

By CARL GRAHAM

PORT EWEN

The Esopus Town Board at a special meeting Tuesday night accepted unanimously and without comment the resignation of Thomas Johnson as a part-time patrolman on the town police force.

At the board's regular September 12 meeting, Johnson read a letter of resignation in which he accused the board of making a "political football" of his resignation. Democratic Supervisor George Freer, denying the charge, cited a section of the Town Law that prohibits police officers from engaging in political activity. Johnson said he had learned the law had been declared unconstitutional. The board voted to defer the matter to Tuesday night's special meeting after Johnson called on Freer to resign as town police commissioner. Freer said he had no intention of resigning.

Freer again declined to resign as police commissioner Tuesday night after Town Justice Robert Jordan called for his replacement by a three-member civilian board of commissioners. Jordan said he felt that the presence of Freer's brother on the town police force constituted a potential conflict of interest for Freer as police commissioner.

"I feel that three people serving as police commissioners would relieve of any burden (of conflict of interest)," Jordan told Freer.

"I have no intention of resigning unless you can prove a conflict of interest," Freer replied.

Jordan then moved that the post of police commissioner be abolished, but the measure failed for lack of a majority. With Town Justice Andrew Aurigemma supporting Jordan and Councilmen John Bowman and Daniel P. Terpening abstaining along with Freer.

EUGENE HANNAY

Hannay Now In Training

Local Air Force representative, Technical Sergeant Dan Mambert, has announced the enlistment of Eugene Hannay into the U.S. Air Force. He is presently undergoing transition at Lackland Air Force Base in San Antonio, Tex., and upon completion of this six-week program, will commence specialized electronic training in preparation for his chosen Air Force profession.

Additional information about all of the specialized training programs available as a member of the Aerospace team may be obtained by contacting Sgt. Mambert at his office at Broadway and Maiden Lane.

Service News

CHOSEN FOR PROGRAM — S-Sgt. Frederick Davis, son of Mrs. Frank Ocker of Kingston, has been selected to participate in the college degree completion program. Sgt. Davis, who enlisted in the U. S. Marine Corps in 1964, will continue his education at Pensacola Junior College in Florida. He served in Vietnam from February 1966 to May of 1968 and holds the Good Conduct Medal, Vietnamese Cross of Gallantry, Vietnamese Service, Vietnamese Campaign Ribbon and the National Defense Medal. Sgt. Davis and his wife, the former Elizabeth Ann Namikluk, are the parents of a daughter, Kelly.

Army Looking For Engineers

KINGSTON — If construction work is your bag, the Army may have a place for you in the Corps of Engineers.

According to Sergeant John Fitzpatrick, local Army representative, there are current vacancies in the engineer field at various posts around the country.

With an enlistment in the Army's "station of choice" option, individuals are given a written guarantee of job training and a one-year tour at Belvoir or one of over 40 other installations throughout the continental U.S. A guaranteed assignment in Hawaii, Alaska, Panama or Europe is also available to qualified persons interested in living and working in other parts of the world.

"The guaranteed assignment choice is given in addition to free meals, housing, medical and dental care, clothing, a starting salary of $307.20 a month, and 30 days paid vacation a year," Sgt. Fitzpatrick said.

For further information contact Sgt. Fitzpatrick at his office on Broadway and Maiden Lane.

Marines Extend Arms Program

KINGSTON — Sgt. Fred Ellis, Marine recruiter for Ulster County, has announced that the Marine Corp Combat Arms Program has been extended until Jan. 31, 1974.

To qualify for the program, applicants must be high school graduates, pass a physical examination and attain a passing score on the Armed Forces Qualification Test.

Applicants who qualify and are approved for this program receive a $2,500 cash bonus upon being assigned to one of the three Military Occupational Specialties that come under the program.

The specialties are Infantry, Tank and Amphibian Tractor and Artillery. Applicants may choose Infantry as a specific guarantee.

Strict Budget, Sacrifice Help Inflation Battle

Upstate Couple Amazing Friends

NEW LISBON, N.Y. (AP) — If it weren't for inflation, Phil and Bonnie Hansen would be hoping that their next child is a girl instead of another boy.

The Hansens' second child is due in February. They want a brother for their 10-month-old son, David, because he'd be able to wear David's hand-me-down clothes.

Inflation also had a lot to do with the Hansens' decision to leave Rochester on Aug. 28 for a new life in this tiny Otsego County community. They moved into their first home here, a house trailer they bought with a loan from his parents.

Phil, who will be 25 in October, is working as an inhalation therapist at a hospital in nearby Cooperstown, the same job he had in Rochester.

"But there's a good chance I can move into chest therapy, which is a better-paying job," he says. He also may seek a part-time job, and plans to raise vegetables, keep chickens and perhaps a cow on their acre of land.

"I never collected unemployment or welfare payments and never used food stamps," Phil says. "I don't believe in them because we've never been in dire need.

"I guess you can call us independently poor."

Hansens has brought home $230 every two weeks—$15 more than a year ago but not enough to keep up with cost-of-living increases. The Hansens don't know what they would have done without the $220 monthly check he received for three months from the Veterans Administration for biology and chemistry courses he took.

But strict budgeting and sacrifice have helped, too. Friends find it hard to believe how they get by with only $70 a month for food, Bonnie says.

"Potatoes were 7 cents a pound when we got married (two years ago) and now they're 15 cents a pound, so we've eaten rice for the past year instead of potatoes," she notes.

They've also stopped buying hot dogs, pork chops, lamb and roasts, and have cut down on hamburgers.

"We eat more stews and casseroles. They last two or three days," Bonnie says.

Because baby food is so expensive, the Hansens buy canned fruit and vegetables for David and strain it themselves.

"We used to go out once a week for treats—an ice cream, a pizza or a hamburger. But we've cut that back to just once a month," Bonnie says.

Instead of a monthly movie, they now go to a film about once every six months. They've switched from the name brands of gasoline to the discount brands and conserve gasoline by trying to do all their errands on one trip each week.

Except for major work, Phil does all of his own car repairs. Neither smokes nor drinks, and they "don't see how people who do can make it today."

Nonetheless, the Hansens have been able to keep up with all their insurance premiums and all of their credit payments. They still tithe 10 per cent of their gross income to their church—they're Mormons—and Bonnie never has had to take a job.

way they are supposed to, on supply and demand, I'm sure that in a very short time this thing is going to settle out nicely."

Safeway stores in Los Angeles raised most beef prices an average of 10 cents because of "increased cost." Premium ground beef was $1.38 a pound, up 10 cents. But lamb dropped as much as 10 cents a pound.

"I'm just glad the government is out of the price-setting business," Herbert Kramer, president of the Retail Grocers Association, said in New Orleans. "I think if they let our supermarkets just operate the

New Standard on Meat Cuts

What's the difference between a Delmonico and a Spencer steak? There is none and shoppers will be able to buy them both as "beef rib eye steak," although probably at higher prices.

The National Livestock and Meat Board announced plans Monday for a new standard for identifying cuts of meat to reduce shopper confusion. The plan will reduce more than 1,000 names for cuts of beef, pork, veal and lamb to about 300.

So Delmonico and Spencer steaks, as well as filet steaks as they are called in some parts of the country, will be called "beef rib eye steak."

A Kansas City steak, which also is called a New York strip or club steak, will be labeled "beef loin, top loin steak."

But filet mignon still will be filet mignon.

The new system is voluntary and butcher shops will not have to go along with it.

David H. Stroud, president of the meat board, said "It may be the most significant meat counter improvement since the introduction of self-service nearly four decades ago."

No matter what a steak is called, its price is up. In Chicago Monday, the price of round steak in a major supermarket jumped 10 cents a pound, to $1.59. Lean hamburger was 98 cents a pound, up five cents.

The ceilings imposed Sept. 7 forced many stations to reduce prices by up to 3 cents a gallon.

In a separate action, a bipartisan group of 33 senators wrote council director John Dunlop that the rollbacks required of retailers while other sectors of the oil industry were allowed to raise prices are likely to force many small businessmen to close in a matter of weeks.

The ceilings were defended by Justice Department attorney William C. White before a three-judge Temporary Emergency Court of Appeals hearing four separate challenges to the regulations.

He said ceiling prices are needed to counteract "an inflationary psychology that was gripping the petroleum industry at every level" earlier this year. The government has said the ceilings were intended to roll back unjustified increases made during the spring and summer months.

But Jerry S. Cohen, an attorney for one retailer group said the retail price of gasoline increased only about 7 per cent during the first six months of this year while wholesale prices rose 33 per cent.

At the outset of the session, White revealed that the government has exempted nonpetroleum business, like repairs and tire and battery sales, from price controls for retailers with fewer than 60 employees. He said this would include most of the country's 165,000 gasoline stations.

Some Close, Others Defy Phase 4 Gas Price Ceiling

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gas station owners have told the Cost of Living Council that some of them are closing down because of the council's price ceilings and some others are defying the regulations.

As the council's Phase 4 price ceilings on retail gasoline were being debated in court elsewhere in the city, representatives of Western gasoline station operators and several senators spent nearly two hours with council officials in a meeting arranged by Sen. Pete V. Domenici, R-N.M.

Bud Walch, an Oklahoma City gas station owner said 25 per cent of Oklahoma City gas stations have voted to shut down because they can't make a profit. Those that have decided to remain open are charging up to 4 cents over the legal price, he said.

Start Training Academy For Correction Officers

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — A training academy for correction officers, long an objective of prison reformers in New York, has begun operation at a former seminary on Albany's outskirts.

"This is the first concrete step in implementing a vision most of us have... for a truly unified post-adjudicator treatment system," Correctional Services Commissioner Peter Preiser said at a dedication ceremony officially opening the new central training academy. The facility will eventually have the capability to train 96 state prison guards, 30 probation officers, 30 county jail employees and 10 parole officers at one time, correction officials said.

State correction officers previously received only on-the-job training at prisons. Many local jail employees received no formal training at all.

The first section of 11 prison guard trainees began classes at the academy Monday. Several dozen more have begun training in temporary facilities at Plattsburgh state college.

Correction officials said the 12-week course for prison guards offers basic training in the criminal justice system, human relations and day-to-day correction work.

Another 29 probation officers and about 60 local jail employees also began classes at the new facility Monday. Most county jail personnel will attend two-week courses. The duration of study for probation and parole officers will vary.

The main building at the academy, which has a training staff of 19, contains classrooms, lecture halls, a library, recreation rooms, dining facilities, sleeping quarters, offices and a chapel that has been converted into an auditorium.

He said ceiling prices are needed to counteract "an inflationary psychology that was gripping the petroleum industry at every level" earlier this year. The government has said the ceilings were intended to roll back unjustified increases made during the spring and summer months.

AND ON TO FIRST—Pirates' second baseman Rennie Stennett avoids a slide from Mets' Don Hahn and throws on to first to complete double play on Jerry Grote in eighth inning of Tuesday's game. Mets rallied for five runs in the ninth and beat Pittsburgh, 6-5, to further tighten the National League East. (UPI)

Spaceman in Orbit

BOSTON (UPI)—Ask the spaceman why people call him the spaceman and he gives you a brief lecture on Einstein's theories. Tell him that he's won more games than any Boston Red Sox left-hander since Mel Parnell and he goes into orbit.

Bill "Spaceman" Lee picked up his 17th win against nine losses Tuesday night as the Red Sox won the New York Yankees 4-2 with the help of home runs by Reggie Smith and Cecil Cooper.

The Red Sox, now holding a 13-4 edge over New York, close out their season series with the Yankees tonight with Luis Tiant, 18-12 taking on Mel Stottlemyre, 14-15.

"I believe in Einstein's theories," Lee said Tuesday night. He went on to say something about a "continuum universe," extra-terrestrial beings and the like.

Mike Hegan tagged him for a home run in the fifth and he needed a pair of spectacular fielding plays by Carl Yastrzemski and Doug Griffin to get out of a jam in the sixth.

Thurman Munson singled with one out in the sixth and Bobby Murcer walked to put Lee in his jam. Jim Hart singled to left but Yastrzemski cut off Tommy Harper's throw and fired to Luis Aparicio to catch Munson at third.

Graig Nettles hit what appeared to be a sure hit over second on the next pitch but Griffin made a backhand stab of the ball and threw to second to get Hart.

Smith homered in the third for the first Boston run and Cooper hit one in the fifth for another one. The Red Sox added two runs in the eighth on singles by Harper and Yastrzemski, a walk to Smith and a fielder's choice by Cepeda.

Red Is Counting On a Leaner

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Leaners used to only count in horseshoes but now St. Louis Cardinal Manager Red Schoendienst is counting on a leaner in his sport.

"If we can keep on winning and if we're leaning the right way, maybe we can fall into first place," said Schoendienst after the Cardinals beat the Expos 7-4.

The victory, coupled with the Pirates' 6-5 loss to the Mets, pulled St. Louis to within 1 1/2 games of Pittsburgh's front-running pace in the National League East.

Elsewhere in the National League, Philadelphia and Chicago split a pair, the Phils taking the first 5-2 and the Cubs the second 5-2; Cincinnati blanked Houston 1-0; San Diego dropped Atlanta 9-4 and Los Angeles downed San Francisco 3-1.

Padres 9, Braves 4
Steve Arlin held Atlanta to five hits and Hank Aaron to a single and a long out in hurling the San Diego Padres to a 9-4 victory.

Aaron lofted a long fly in the Weak hitting utility man Don Hahn, who entered the game with just 19 RBIs, stroked a two-run single to provide the margin of victory, and Buzz Capra, an admittedly "hyper" reliever, saved the victory by pitching out of a bases loaded jam in the ninth.

"We had to win it. I don't think there was any way we could have lost that game," gushed Hahn, whose decisive hit pushed the Mets to within 2 1/2 games of the Pirates, whom they meet again tonight in New York to open a three-game set.

The Mets opened the ninth by scoring two runs and loading the bases off Ramon Hernandez. Dave Giusti then replaced Hernandez and he delivered the crucial pitch to Hahn on a three-and-two count.

Bob Apodaca, making his first major league appearance, came into pitch for the Mets to open the ninth, and he immediately walked Gene Clines and Milt May.

After the two walks, Met Manager Yogi Berra called on Capra, who entered the game with a 2-7 record and just three saves. "I always get excited when I come into a game," said Capra, "but I was even more excited tonight. I'm kind of hyper I guess."

The first batter Capra faced was Dave Cash, and he advanced both runners with a sacrifice bunt. Al Oliver then grounded to first 'o score Clines and narrow the Met lead to 6-5.

That's when Capra walked Willie Stargell intentionally before filling the bases with an unintentional walk to Richie Zisk. Then free-swinging Manny Sanguillen stepped to the plate.

Capra ran the count to three-and-one on Sanguillen before he hit a fly to medium left that Cleon Jones tracked down for the final out.

The Pirates, who suffered their fourth loss in 12 games since Danny Murtaugh's return as manager, fell behind 1-0 in the third when Rusty Staub singled home a run off Bob Moose.

However, Pittsburgh exploded for four runs in the fourth off Met starter Jon Matlack with the help of a two-run single by Zisk with the bases full and two-run double by Sanguillen.

Hernandez relieved Moose in the seventh and pitched out of a bases loaded jam with the help of a double play, but the roof fell in on Hernandez in the ninth.

Pinchhitter Jim Beachamp opened the ninth-inning Mets assault with a one-out single to left. Wayne Garret then doubled to left to move Beachamp to third, and Felix Milan followed with a two-run triple.

Hernandez then walked Staub, and that's when Murtaugh called on Giusti, the ace of the Pirate bullpen.

Mets Pinchhitter Ron Hodges, a rookie, followed with a single to right to score Milan and cut the lead to 4-3. Giusti then walked Jones to set the stage for the decisive single to center by Hahn.

Feeny confirmed that he had received a letter from the Seattle group and said that he would see all owners were aware of the Seattle interest before any vote was taken on sale and transfer to Washington.

"I don't know what our timetable is," he said, "but the owners will be aware of all facts before they vote. I've got a letter from the Seattle group to show the people."

Feeny said the league "has done our homework on the financial aspects of selling to the Danzansky group."

He also said a request by the city of San Diego for an injunction to prevent the move had been dismissed but that a suit for damages still is pending against the Padres and the league.

No Excitement in AL

By United Press International

The Baltimore Orioles and the Oakland A's don't seem to know that dividing the league into two divisions was supposed to create more exciting races.

Baltimore is heading towards its fourth Eastern Division crown since the split was made five years ago in 1969 and Oakland is shooting for its third straight in the Western Division. That'll give the two clubs seven out of 10 titles.

And they're won all seven titles in a breeze. None of the races has been exciting.

The two clubs continued marching in lockstep Tuesday night when they both recorded triumphs to boost their records to 89-61 and reduce their magic number to five. Both teams lead by 7 1/2 games. Baltimore downed Detroit 6-2 and Oakland turned back California 5-4.

Baltimore's three previous division titles came by 19, 15 and 12 games while Oakland's two titles came by 16 and 5 1/2 games.

In fact, the only close American League race since the league was divided came last year when Detroit beat Boston by a half-game in the East.

Naturally, Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver is enjoying the comfortable margin.

"I'd like to get it over with," he said. "Once we clinch it, we can relax and avoid injuries until the playoffs."

"If there was one division, you wouldn't have to worry about the playoffs. But it does make for more champions. Detroit won the East last year but that's second place if it's just one league. As it is, you have to do it over again, three out of five."

"It's still an accomplishment to win your division but that doesn't make you AL champion. So far the team with the best percentage has won the playoffs."

Weaver said that for him.

this season is like 1969. "It's my first one all over again. After you miss one, it means a little more. Some of the kids here haven't gone through it. I haven't done anything different this year. I just write Bumby and Coggins in and they hit and we win. I write Rettenmund and Baylor in and they hit and we win."

"This club is capable of winning six times in the next 10 years. That would be 10 out of 15. If that's not a dynasty, I'd like to know what is."

Earl Williams' three-run homer and three doubles by Bobby Grich paced the Orioles over Detroit. Jesse Jefferson pitched an eight-hitter for the win while Mickey Lolich took the loss.

Jim Hunter became a 20-game winner for the third straight season as Oakland downed California. Hunter allowed eight hits in 7 2/3 innings while boosting his record to 20-4. Three of Oakland's five runs were unearned because of two throwing errors by shortstop Rudy Meoli.

In the other games, Boston downed New York 4-2, Cleveland nipped Milwaukee 6-5, Texas beat Chicago 7-2 and Kansas City edged Minnesota 4-3.

Cecil Cooper and Reggie Smith hit solo homers to pace Boston over New York. Bill Lee pitched a seven-hitter while outdueling George Medich, who allowed nine hits.

Pinch-hitter John Ellis hit a two-run homer in the ninth inning to give Cleveland the triumph over Milwaukee. Jim Colborn, bidding to become the first 20-game winner in Brewer history, took a 5-3 lead into the ninth but Chris Chambliss homered and Charlie Spikes doubled. Chris Short relaced Colborn and Ellis tagged his first itch for the game-winning homer.

Kurt Bevacqua drove in two runs and scored another and Amos Otis hit a solo homer to lead Kansas City over the Twins and Bert Blyleven, who was touched for 10 hits.

Jim Bibby pitched a five-hitter as Texas beat Chicago. Jim Spencer and Jeff Burroughs homered for the Rangers. Stan Bahnsen suffered the loss.

Pick Bobby Riggs In Straight Sets

HOUSTON (AP) — Bobby Riggs is the pick over Billie Jean King in tennis' Battle of the Sexes at the Astrodome Thursday night.

The score will be 6-4, 7-5, 6-2.

Billie Jean is younger—21 years younger. She covers the court better. She serves harder and hits many of her shots—particularly her backhand—better.

But it's Bobby's hustle. You never go against a hustler when it's his hustle.

If the two were prize fighters and were to be judged on gymnasium tune-ups, you'd have to go with the girl. Billie Jean has been overpowered in practice. Bobby has been just mediocre.

But that's only for fun.

It's different when the big prize is at stake. Riggs is accustomed to playing pressure matches. He has more than 40 years of competitive experience behind him. He is a master craftsman at his trade.

As Wimbledon and U.S. champion and later king of the pros, he was the best. The best male player can beat any woman player without loss of a game, without loss of too many points. But Bobby is 55, not as quick as he once was and not even the best senior player in the United States.

Billie Jean, on the other hand, as five-time Wimbledon champion, can claim to be 1 or 2 among the women in the world. Mrs. Court is the only one who can dispute her.

"Bobby will never psych me the way he psych Margaret Court," boasts Billie Jean, speaking of the 6-2, 6-1 rout of the Australian at San Diego May 13.

Just in repeating it gives the impression that Billie Jean is probably psyched already.

Billie Jean isn't the tennis player that Margaret Court is but she is a fierce competitor. Like Bobby, she has been computerized for competition.

It is Billie Jean's determination, her fierce fighting qualities, that will enable her to make the match as close as it

Wilt Trying to Make Up His Mind

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Yes, Wilt Chamberlain is talking with the San Diego Conquistadors about a trade but no, he hasn't signed a contract yet and is still trying to decide whether to play one more year, two more years or two more years or three.

In a television interview Tuesday night, the holdout center of the Los Angeles Lakers responded to published reports that he already had signed a two-year player-coach contract with the ABA expansion club.

"The rumor is still a rumor," the 7-foot-2 center said. "I'm still talking with San Diego and we're pretty close. I'm trying to decide whether to play one more year, two more years or three."

Chamberlain, a 13-year NBA veteran who joined the Lakers in 1969 and holds at least 14 pro basketball records, also admitted his feathers were ruffled by the Lakers' acquisition of the Buffalo center Elmore Smith.

"My pride was hurt," Chamberlain said. "I don't blame the Lakers for looking out for their future but I think they do owe me some consideration. It was obvious they were trying to get Smith and not just getting him to sit on the bench."

Laker General Manager Pete Newell said Chamberlain still has an option year remaining on his expired contract which binds him to the club for another season.

"If he doesn't want to play for us, he'll have to sit out this season," Newell said. "We have to protect our contracts whether it's Wilt's or any other player's."

In San Diego, a spokesman for the Conquistadors also denied reports that Wilt would hold a news conference in Los Angeles today announcing a contract agreement with two-year-old club.

"There is no news conference scheduled in Los Angeles Wednesday," the spokesman said. "If there was one, we'd be the first to know about it and it would be held in San Diego, not in Los Angeles."

Chamberlain has a valid offer from us but has never given us an answer," he said.

The big Laker center, however, said he had been talking directly with Conquistador owner Leonard Bloom, whom he has known for three years.

"Yes, we've talked and he's trying to build up the San Diego basketball situation," said Chamberlain. "It's good to know that somebody still wants you."

New Shoes Helped Ricci Reenie

DELAWARE, Ohio (UPI) — was just a matter of economics as far as Harold "Sonny" Dancer is concerned.

Dancer's Ricci Reenie Time, one of the co-favorites in Thursday's 28th running of the Little Brown Jug at the Delaware County Fairgrounds, was a mysterious early season disappointment, but has come on strong lately.

"I didn't try to get him really sharp early because they only have so many good races in them," said Dancer, "and I wanted him ready for the big money races."

Since early August, Ricci Reenie Time has won three stakes races—the Tom Gaines Memorial at Vernon Downs, the Adios Stakes at The Meadows and the Jug Preview at Scioto Downs—breaking the 2:00 mark handsily in each event.

Dancer says a new pair of shoes, or, actually an old pair, may be responsible for the upsurge.

"We put the same shoes on him he had as a 2-year-old," Dancer said. "He had a foot problem and we didn't want to take the shoes with bars off

Foreman Wants Ali

HOUSTON (UPI) — Heavyweight champion George Foreman said Tuesday he would like Muhammad Ali for Christmas wrapped in a $5 million package.

"We've been talking about a Christmas present for me," Foreman said. "I'd like to have Muhammad Ali."

Foreman said he has heard talks about a title match with the former champion that could bring $5 million to each fighter. "I've heard offers of $3 million to $5 million but I'd jump out of an airplane for $1 million," he said.

Foreman said he didn't foresee a rematch between Ali and Joe Frazier.

"I don't think it would be much of a fight," Foreman said. "That would be the battle of the washouts—one would be scared and the other would be glad of it."

Foreman will present the $100,000 check Thursday to the winner of the Billie Jean King-Bobby Riggs tennis match. He predicted King would win because of their ages. She is 29 and Riggs is 55.

"It's amazing how much Muhammad Ali has in common with Bobby Riggs," Foreman said. "They were both born about the same time."

But Ali, actually only two years older than King but eight years older than the current heavyweight champion, is not the only contender Foreman is thinking about. He also mentioned Jerry Quarry and Ken Norton for possible title shots.

Melvin's Woe should get his biggest challenge in the first division heat from Rob Ron Ritzar, driven by last year's winning driver, Keith Waple, and listed at 7-2, and Valiant Bret, driven by Lucien Fontaine and placed by the oddsmakers at 9-2.

Valiant Bret won the first jewel of this year's triple crown of three-year old pacing, the Messenger Stakes.

The rest of the first division field will include Gay Skipper, driven by Jack Ackerman at 6-1; Smog, driven by Vernon Dancer at 8-1; American Skipper, driven by Glen Garnsey at 8-1; Keystone Smarite, driven by Billy Haughton at 8-1; Racing Knight, driven by Dick Buxton at 10-1; and Playboy Hanover, driven by Terry Holton at 12-1.

Smog was the winner of the Cane Futurity, the second jewel of the triple crown, but drew the No. 8 post position.

While Armbrone Nesbit is figured as Ricci Reenie Time's top competition, J.R. Skipper, driven by John Chapman, was given the third nod in the second division at 9-2 odds.

Storen Solves Dilemma

NEW YORK (UPI) — Mike Storen, the new commissioner of the American Basketball Association, resolved the dispute between the Memphis Tams and the New York Nets over Larry Kenon Tuesday when he directed the Nets to freeze six veteran players on their roster.

The Tams can choose two players from the remaining six names as compensation for Kenon, who signed with the Nets although he was selected No. 1 by Memphis in a special draft last January.

Storen specified that the Tams, who last weekend named Butch van Breda Kolff as their new coach, must have their selections in the ABA office by noon Thursday or else forfeit the picks.

Kenon, a 6-9 center-forward at Memphis State last season, gave Tams' owner Charlie Finley a chance to match the contract offered him by the Nets, and when Finley didn't, Kenon signed with the New York club.

The 12 veteran players on the Nets' roster are Jim Ard, John Baum, George Bruns, Julius Erving, Gary Gregor, Bob Lackey, Bill Melchionni, Billy Paultz, John Roche, Willie Sojourner, Brian Taylor and Tom Washington. Erving, Melchionni, Paultz, Roche and Taylor were virtually certain to be protected.

16th Twaalfskill Crown for Hughes

KINGSTON

They should start thinking about some kind of special Permanent Possession Trophy for George Hughes at the Twaalfskill Club. The Sweet Swinger has just claimed his 16th title since 1951, demolishing defending champion Form Coughlin, 7 and 6, in the 1973 finals.

Hughes, whose niche in the pantheon of area all-time greats has long been secure fashioned eight birdie and finished one-under-par for the 30-hole route. It was his first title since 1970. Robert Terpening, a rank outsider, won the crown in 1971 and Coughlin was the 1972 champion.

The perennial champion carded a two-under-par, 33-35-68, with five birdies, to take a 4-up lead in the first round. Coughlin, meanwhile, wasn't exactly blown off the course, posting 36-36-72 with two birdies.

Hughes birdied the short, par-4, 238-yard fourth all three times and his third birdie put him 5-up at the end of 22 holes. Coughlin won the par-five 23rd hole with a par, but lost the 25th to Hughes' birdie-4. Both had trouble on the exacting 27th

(9th) hole, where Hughes was able to extend his lead to 6-up with a bogey, as Coughlin skied to a six.

Coughlin experienced his third straight bogey on the 28th hole (1st) to put Hughes 7-up. They halved the next two holes and Coughlin suddenly discovered he had run out of holes.

Hughes birdied the No. 2 hole twice, and had three birdies each on No. 4 and No. 7.

Five other flight championships were contested over the 36-hole route.

Robert Bechtold defeated Frank Vogt, 2 and 1, for First Flight honors. Dr. C.I. Goffredi topped William Merrill, 2 and 1, in the Second Flight. In the Third Flight, Mike Loughran beat Charles Montafia, 2 and 1.

Jack Gilligan trounced Stirling Potter, 6 and 5 in the Fourth Flight finals and Ted Feeney won over Emilio Groppuso, 3 and 1 in the Fifth Flight.

COLEMAN FALL FESTIVAL — Coleman High School will hold its annual Fall Festival on Saturday, Sept. 29 at which time parents and friends can meet the faculty and visit the school and its facilities. Highlight of the day will be a varsity soccer game between the Statesmen and St. Patrick's of Catskill. The Boosters fund and sponsor junior varsity soccer and baseball, purchase athletic equipment, monitor and supervise crowds at basketball games, operate refreshment stands, and last year purchased trophies for the undefeated JV basketball team. ## Jersey Cage Leader Is Something New EAST ORANGE, N.J. (UPI) — Andy Armour has all the moves. He acts, talks and conducts himself exactly like what he is—a club owner.

There's only one hitch. He doesn't look like one.

Whadd'ya expect for only 14, Jack Kent Cooke?

Andy Armour has been vice president and part owner of the Garden State Colonials of the Eastern Basketball Association for more than a year now and if you watch him operate, then you know right away he's no publicity gag.

"Being the only owner under 30 in the league, my duties are a little more physical than those of the other owners," says Andy Armour, who has freckles, curly hair, braces on his teeth and the kind of energy you wouldn't believe.

"Our league uses the NBA rules, but we also have the ABA's three-point play, so I'll sit on the court, put a string down and mark the 25-foot line before the game starts, for example," explains the slender young owner-vice president.

"I do other things, too. If the bleachers have to be moved after a dance, I do that. I sit on the bench during the games and carry water and towels, but I'm not the ball boy. Someone else takes care of that. I keep the stats sometimes and round up vendors to sell the programs. If the coach says to me 'Will you run out to the car and get me another uniform?' I do it."

A Distinct Advantage
At times, Andy's youth is a distinct advantage. The players are very free in what they say to him.

"They know I'm part owner, but they'll say things to me they won't say to someone else," he says. "Like maybe they'll curse out the coach. He doesn't know what the hell he's doing," one of them will say. Or another one will come back to the bench and say to me after he's been taken out, 'I wanna play more, and I should play more. You know I should, don'tcha?'"

"We've got some fine players in our league, players like Willie Somerset, Elnardo Webster and Jim Ware, who were in the NBA and ABA. All the players in our league are former college and high school stars and they've got large egos. They think they're the best in the world, and sometimes when they complain I can see their problems. I sorta feed their ego, but I don't want to second guess the coach. Everybody else does."

Andy Armour's youth isn't always appreciated by his players though.

"I remember our first practice last year," he says. "It was at P.S. 41 in Jersey City and I was sitting on a bench in the bleachers when our coach, Bob Raskin, called the players over to lecture them. He wanted to speak with them alone and I didn't realize it until he said to me, 'Andy would you mind going over there?'"

Was Sorta Hurt

"As I got up to leave, Bubba Gary—he's our 6 foot 4 guard from St. Bonaventure—said to me 'And please don't come back.' I was sorta hurt. I felt like an intruder. I found out later that was simply Bubba's way. He was just joking."

In some ways, Andy Armour makes Horatio Alger look like a bench-warmer.

To begin with, he made some money mowing lawns and baby sitting. He took that money, bought stock with it and made a little more money. Then he bought another stock which shot up from 3 to 40.

Andy was only 12 at the time, but he was no dope. He sold the stock at 40.

His father, Larry, is a financial newspaper editor as well as the author of "The Young Millionaires."

Women's Tag-Team Match

On Thursday's Mat Card

A special women's tag-team match will be one of the highlights in the professional wrestling exhibitions Thursday night at the municipal auditorium.

Promoter Ted Bayly has lined up the team of Joan Sheridan and Peggy Patterson to go against roughnecks Dottie Downs and Judy Grable. It should be a noisy and thrilling encounter.

Prof. Tanaka, a solid auditorium favorite, faces wrestling's biggest giant—500 pound Haystack Calhoun of Alaska in the feature bout. Both are solid favorites with local fans.

In other one-fall bouts, Tony Lanza meets Tom Gere in the co-feature; Jay Strongbow goes against Mr. Fuji and El Olimpico takes on Manuel Soto.

First bout is scheduled for 8:30 p.m. and tickets are available at the door.

Larry Armour also is a part owner of the Colonials, but it was Andy who helped him and not vice versa.

"I had a chance to get a franchise in the league a year ago, but I didn't have the money," says the older Armour. "Andy said 'I have some money in the bank. Let me invest with you.' I said, 'Okay, your investments up to now have worked out beautifully. Who am I to say no?'"

Althiser Heads Senior BR Loop

KINGSTON

Arthur Althiser, the city's most prominent junior basketball coach, has been elected president of the Senior Babe Ruth League of Kingston. He succeeds Lou Sapp, who led the league in its first two years of operation.

Other officers are: Bob Blake, vice president; Lew McMahon, secretary; Lou Sapp, treasurer. Directors-at-large are Frank Stauble, Jules Albertini and Althiser. George Wager is the player agent.

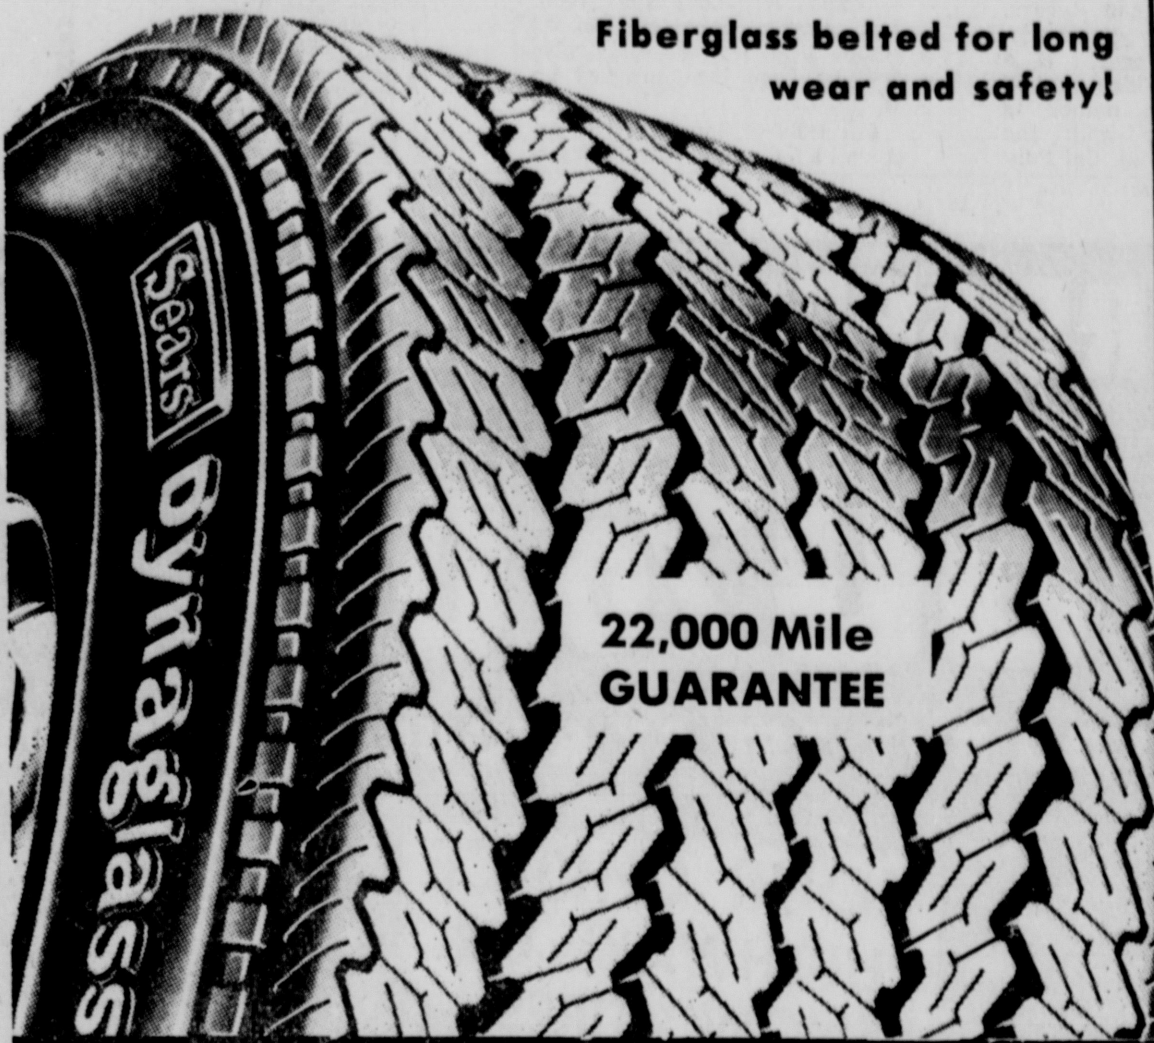

The league operated with five teams during the 1973 season—Whitman Electric, Kingston Trust, J.G. Drywall-Charlie's Car Wash, Rotary and Slicker's Delivery. J.G. Charlie's defeated Kingston Trust in the championship playoff.

SU's Kramer Pleased With Prospects

It's Baseball Time at New Paltz

NEW PALTZ — They've already put the bats, balls, and gloves away at most places where baseball is played, but not at New Paltz State where Coach Pete Kramer's squad is eagerly anticipating an eight game fall schedule.

Coach Kramer, under whose guidance the program has shown tremendous strides in recent seasons, feels his 1973-74 club is the strongest he's had here. Kramer is hopeful that meetings with Plattsburgh State and Albany State in the weeks ahead will give the Hawks a jump on the opposition in the State University Athletic Conference standings, in which the fall games count.

The schedule opens Saturday with a non-conference doubleheader at Westfield State. Then on Friday and Saturday, Sept. 28 and 29, the Hawks will host a four-team tournament. A home twinbill is set for Oct. 6 against Patterson State, and an away doubleheader is on the docket Oct. 13 against Albany.

Kramer's mound staff is headed by returnees Bob Speirs and Dean Briggs. The latter was 4-2 last spring. Also on the list of pitchers is Tommy Whitaker, Mitch Bernstein, Omrie Scott, and one of the top hurlers from the local area, Ralph Calderone of Wallkill.

The infield is nearly intact.

Whitaker is the first baseman with Benny Alberto at short and Mike Scammacca at third. Alberto hit .298 last season while Scammacca led the club in runs batted in.

At second base, Kramer must find a replacement for Bob Kozak. Soph. Dennis Ponte and transfer Richard Roe are competing for that spot.

Infield depth is provided by shortstop Tom McNamara, and first baseman Pete Fairweather of New Paltz High School fame.

Freshmen Vic Mirandona and Todd Grosshans, the latter from Bill Hopkins are the catching New Paltz High, are hoping to fill the other spot.

In the outfield, Kevin Mancini and John Hernandez, return, that this will be their year, so Senior Paul Grumbach, sophs although the weather is turning Omrie Scott and John Perry cooler, things are getting red-hot and freshmen Gregg Miller and hot on the State U. diamond.

Fast Start for Delaware

NEW YORK (UPI) — Delaware, hoping to rule the college division ranks for the third straight season, started off in the right direction by being chosen tops in the country by the UPI Board of Coaches Tuesday after a 49-14 victory over West Chester State.

The defending champion Blue Hens, already 2-0 this season, received 24 first place votes from the 30 coaches participating in the first week of regular season balloting for a total of 289 points — 62 better than second-ranked Grambling.

Grambling, boasting one of its best squads in years, received 227 points — surprisingly without the benefit of a first place vote. Third ranked South Dakota was named to two No. 1 ballots while the others went to Hawaii, Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo, McNeese State and Bridgeport (Conn.).

No. 3-ranked South Dakota moved up a place from the pre-season ratings by trouncing last year's Ohio Valley Conference champion Tennessee Tech, 30-0, Saturday, while Hawaii, unranked in the pre-season, soared all the way up to the No. 4 spot this week after its shocking 10-7 win over a perennial Pacific Eight major power Washington—at Seattle.

Tennessee State dropped two notches from pre-season to No. 5 and North Dakota State was No. 6. Eastern Michigan, which knocked off Louisiana Tech, last year's unbeaten No. 2 team, 21-19, last Saturday, also jumped from the unranked up to No. 7.

Cal Poly of San Luis Obispo, Ashland and Northwestern

Louisiana completed the top 10.

North Dakota (1-1) headed the second ten, followed in order by Carson-Newman, Western Kentucky, McNeese State, Bridgeport, Idaho State, Jacksonville (Ala.) State, Arkansas State, Louisiana Tech and Massachusetts.

Army Tix Available

WEST POINT
There are still some tickets available for Saturday's Army home opener with Tennessee, the Army Athletic Association has announced. Interested persons are asked to contact the AAA office for more information.

Saturday's meeting will be the fifth between Army and Tennessee. Army won the inaugural clash in 1923, but the last three contests have gone the Vols' way.

There is a definite accent on youth in Army's 1973 football plans which include one of the strongest home schedules ever played by the Cadets.

At least five sophomores have an excellent chance of being in Saturday's starting lineup. Several more figure solidly in the depth picture on respective second units and will see quite a bit of playing time.

Part of this youth movement was anticipated. Of the 43 players who earned varsity letters on last year's 6-4 team, only 16 return this fall. Most of the returning cast have jobs with the offensive unit, and only two lettermen are back from the defensive group which started against Navy in last year's grand finale.

"We knew graduation losses would leave us thin at many positions, particularly on defense," says Coach Tom Cahill, currently in his eighth season as Army's field general. "We know, too, that much of the help would have to come from the sophomore class."

"What we weren't sure of," Cahill added, "was how fast this younger group would mature and develop. They have shown strong improvement since we opened pre-season camp and together as a group have been a pleasant surprise. Some will start against Tennessee and others soon may earn starting jobs as well."

Two sophomores should be in Saturday's opening lineup on the offensive line. Bernie Wrezinski (Beloit, Wis.) who spent the entire spring working with the defense, has been moved to offense and begun work this week as the No. 1 man at left tackle. There's a possibility senior Peter Martin (Ocean Township, N.J.) might get the starting nod at that spot, in which case Wrezinski would battle sophomore John Gallagher (Piqua, Ohio) for opening honors at right guard.

Defensively, three sophomores are sitting in the driver's seat. Greg Dyson (Wharton, N.J.), who played briefly in three games as a freshman last fall, figures to share the linebacking chores with senior veteran Skip Whitman (Manasquan, N.J.) for a starting job at an inside post, but a knee injury suffered during practice last Saturday will sideline Whitman for several days.

In the secondary, where graduation claimed last year's top four, Al Staerkel (Enid, Okla.) and Steve McNally (Florence, Ala.), have the inside track at the halfback spots. Pushing for berths in the deep slots are two other newcomers, Gary May (Lancaster, Pa.) and Scott Gillogly (East Aurora, N.Y.), with both accorded good chances of moving up.

Several promising newcomers provide capable depth offensively. Pat Witherill (Orange, Conn.) passed for 225 yards and four touchdowns in the spring intrasquad game and has proven he is an able backup for veteran Kingsley Fink at quarterback. The same goes for tailback Dan Spangler (Sidney, Ohio) pushing junior Bob Simons (Brooklyn, N.Y.) for starting berth in the backfield.

Taylor Leader In Yacht Races
KINGSTON
Jim Taylor finally topped his father, Mike Taylor, in the overall percentage standings of the Kingston Point Yacht Racing Association's fall sailing series, 92.3 points to 91.4. Mike Taylor maintained third in the Sunfish class with 75.2.

The upset occurred in the last series of races in which Jim scored 140 points, Tom Taylor 116 and Mike Taylor 92. Dave Stott racked up 160 points to retain his lead in the Enterprise class. Louis Jansen scored 144, Bob Begley 142 and Allen Lund 138. Stott also leads the overall percentages with 91.8, followed by Bob Begley with 87 and Allen Lund 80.

Smith will thus be counting on seniors Brown and Emory, and juniors Rich Ohno and Tom Brand. They'll be joined by Bill LaCombe and Ben Roe, both juniors, sophs Paul Brown, Jay Harris, Dennis Holmquist, and Chris Bogert, and freshman Larry Reynolds.

The Sawyers open the season Friday at New Paltz, then host always strong Arlington and Kingston in a triangular to begin DCSL competition on Sept. 25.

Also on the Saugerties schedule this season is an appearance in the Coleman Quadrangular with Kingston.

DENVER (AP) — D.C. Barker, a 22-year-old light-heavyweight with a 142 amateur record since being paroled from the Colorado State Penitentiary in January, has signed a pro boxing contract.

The 5-foot-9, 175-pound Barker, who served three years on a robbery conviction, won both the national AAU and Golden Gloves titles earlier this year. Five of his 14 wins were by knockout.

He will make his professional debut Sept. 25 in Hartford, Conn. in a six-round bout with M.A. Smith, who has a 44 record.

Recreation

RETRACING AN EXPLORATION—Ending a 3,000-mile canoe trip retracing the exploration of Pere Marquette and Louis Jolliet the voyagers arrived in Green Way, Wis., Tuesday. Father Marquette, played by Rev. Charles T. McEnery, and Louis Jolliet, played by Reid Lewis, both of Chicago, Ill., led the eight-man crew on the four-month canoe trip celebrating the three hundredth anniversary of the exploration. Ceremonies officially ending the voyage were held today.

Merchants Seek Meeting With City Candidates

KINGSTON The Central Broadway Businessmen's Association want the candidates to meet them. "We're going to invite Frank Koenig, Bill Merrill, Bob Gallo and Burt Ellis to one of our meetings, before the election," Edward Arace, CBA president told the Freeman. "We'd like them to make opening statements, field a few questions from the membership and then if they want to fight with each other, that's fine."

Mayor Francis R. Koenig and Gallo are running for reelection on the Democrat-Liberal ticket against Republican-Conservative candidates William B. Merrill Jr. (for mayor) and Burt A. Ellis (for alderman-at-large). The businessmen met in regular session Tuesday night at Scholar's on Broadway with the paving of three Broadway parking lots the main topic of discussion. "There were a lot of questions about those parking lots," Arace said. "Some of the members are beginning to wonder if we'll get them paved by winter. There were also questions raised about lights for the parking lots, which were promised. From what we hear, there are no plans for lights."

Bids were opened on the paving job last week.

Arace also said that the CBA is still seeking a meeting with City Planner Robert E. Pritchard on the future on the business area. He said attempts to set up a meeting with Pritchard through the special Central Broadway Committee of the Common Council, chaired by Alderman Donald E. Quick (D Sixth Ward) have been futile.

Arace also announced that arrangements are being made for a charter flight to the Dutch Antilles next March for members of the association. Details are available from Arace.

LEGAL NOTICES

Notice is hereby given that bids will be received until 4 p.m. on Friday, September 28, 1973 at the Town Supervisors Office at Phoenicia, New York, for the alteration and addition to the Town Hall, Allaben, New York. Architects drawings and specifications may be obtained at the office of Raymond J. Dunn, Town Supervisor, Phoenicia, New York between 8 a.m. and 4 p.m. from September 18, 1973. A fifteen dollar ($15) drawing deposit is required for each set of prints picked up. This deposit is refunded upon return receipt of drawings and specifications. Sealed bids will be opened at 8 p.m. on Friday, September 28, 1973 at a special meeting of the Shandaken Town Board in the Town Hall, Route 28, Allaben, New York. The town Board reserves the right to reject any and all bids.

ADVERTISEMENT FOR BIDS
NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that sealed proposals are sought and requested for the purchase by the County of Ulster of an IBM System (370, Model 145, Central Processing Unit) according to the specifications and instructions hereinafter referred to. The sealed proposals shall be received at the office of the Clerk of the County Legislature in the Ulster County Office Building, Kingston, New York until 2:00 p.m., September 26, 1973 at which time all bids which have been received will be publicly opened.

Proposals must be made in accordance with the instructions and specifications which may be obtained at the office of the Clerk of the County Legislature.

Each proposal must be accompanied by a deposit of a certified check, or suitable bid bond, payable to the order of the Treasurer of Ulster County in the sum of five per cent (5%) of the contract price. The County of Ulster does not obligate itself to accept the lowest or any other bid. Any or all bids may be rejected.

All deposits except that of the successful bidder will be returned. Compliance with Section 103a of the General Municipal Law is required.

EDWARD W. SNYDER,
Ulster County Legislature
Dated: September 14, 1973

NOTICE TO BIDDERS
Sealed proposals will be received by the undersigned County Superintendent of Highways of the County of Ulster, at his office, 25 South Manor Avenue, Kingston, New York 12401, up to and including September 25th, 1973 at 10:00 a.m., when the same will be publicly opened and read aloud for the sale and delivery to the County of Ulster, for use of said department, of Rock Salt C.C. Grade complying with or exceeding the specifications of the New York State Department of Transportation in one hundred pound bags and/or bulk, the specifications for which may be obtained from the office of the said Superintendent, at the above address.

The undersigned County Superintendent of Highways reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to cancel any contract entered into if, in his opinion, he deems it to be in the best interests of the County of Ulster.

All proposals shall be enclosed in a sealed envelope marked as to contents and "Letting of September 25th, 1973" and shall be submitted in triplicate.

All purchase contracts awarded pursuant to this notice shall be subject to the provisions of Sections 103-a and 103-d of the General Municipal Law.

Taxpayer Group Hits Bond Issue — 'Big, Vague'

ALBANY, N.Y. (AP) — The $3.5-billion transportation bond issue on the Nov. 6 ballot is too big and its proposed uses too vague, says a taxpayers' organization.

The statewide organization, the Citizens Public Expenditure Survey (CPES), announced its opposition to the bond issue proposal Monday, calling it "hastily conceived" and lacking in essential details.

"Aren't the voters being asked to approve a 'pig in a poke'?" the CPES suggested.

At the same time, the group said it supports Constitutional Amendment No. 1 in the Nov. 6 referendum, a proposal to permit communities to borrow money outside their constitutional debt limit to finance sewage treatment facilities.

The CPES said the size of the transportation bond issue "is far too staggering an amount to approve at this time" and objected to the use of some bond funds to subsidize the operating deficits of mass transit systems.

Of the $3.5 billion total, $2.1 billion would be spent on mass transit projects and the other $1.4 billion on highways.

The cost-conscious taxpayer group also opposed the $2.5-billion transportation bond issue which was defeated at the polls in 1971.

The CPES contended that Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller has not provided sufficient detail on the projects to be financed through the new bonds.

"The proposed bond issue was enacted under the pressure of the special session. Why wasn't it presented, analyzed and debated fully during the 1973 session? Why were no public hearings held?" the organization asked.

Using borrowed money for operating costs is "cause for alarm," the CPES continued. It quoted an investment analyst as saying, "You don't borrow money to pay your grocery bill. We tend to place more faith in borrowed money that is used for capital improvements—inprovements that will become income-producing in the future."

Senate Paints Grim Picture of Private Pensions

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Although 38 million Americans work for companies that provide pension plans, a Senate Labor Committee survey last year found that only a fraction of them could expect to draw pensions in their retirement years.

The chief roadblock generally was a requirement that a worker had to be employed a fixed number of years to qualify for a pension at age 60 or 65. Most changed jobs before working the required number of years, so drew nothing.

After seven years' study, the Senate was beginning debate today on bills to impose minimum federal standards on pension plans operated by private industry.

Approval is expected before the week is over, and Senate action is expected to spur consideration in the House, either this year or more likely in 1974.

Issues Not in Bill

Nothing in the bills before Congress would compel a company to establish a pension plan or would determine the amount paid out to workers. Those issues are left to unions and executives to bargain out.

But for a company to qualify for tax-exempt status for the funds it puts into a pension plan, minimum standards would be exacted.

A key provision guarantees vesting—an employee's right to recover on reaching retirement age his own and his employer's contribution towards his pension in the event he leaves his job before normal retirement age.

Other Provisions

—Require pension plans to accumulate enough funds over 30 years to cover all liabilities to present and retired workers.

—Establish an employer-financed government insurance plan, starting in 1978, which would pay pension claims of companies which went out of business, were absorbed in mergers or failed to meet their obligations.

—Provide for "portable" pensions so that vested workers moving from job to job could, if their old and new employers agree, have their accumulated pensions deposited in a government account. On retirement they would draw one monthly check instead of one from each employer.

—Fix new standards for pension plan administrators and trustees, including disclosure and reporting requirements.

Army Engineers Hit Plans for Great Lakes

BUFFALO (AP) — The U.S. Army Corps of Engineers has announced that an All-American Canal connecting Lakes Erie and Ontario is not economically justified.

In the report released Monday, the Buffalo district office of the Corps said that some major waterway improvement was needed in the form of a new waterway or major structural improvements to the Welland Canal in Ontario, Canada.

"A decision must be made by 1980, assuming maximum funding support, to prevent constraint of waterborne traffic by 1990," the report said.

The report, the culmination of nine years of study, recommended that an international study of the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway system be undertaken immediately under the jurisdiction of the International Joint Commission of the United States and Canada.

"Such a study should address the total demand for transportation in the United States and Canada's Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway system, with the goal designed to meet the country's needs by 1990 and subsequent decades."

"It should further take advantage of the Corps' navigation studies, such as lengthening of the winter navigation season on the Great Lakes and St. Lawrence Seaway. The relevant data and conclusions reached should be applied to upgrade the entire Great Lakes-St. Lawrence Seaway system."

The report concluded by saying, "Our studies, however, have determined that while an All-American Canal connecting Lakes Erie and Ontario is technically and ecologically feasible, it is not economically justified."

THE GOSSIP COLUMN

ROBIN ADAMS SLOAN

SANDS: Her friends are praying.

CHRISTIE: Don't let her see you.

By Robin Adams Sloan
Q: I give money to the girls and boys I see dancing with shaved heads in their orange and white robes on Fifth Avenue. My husband says these Hare Krishnas are rich and I am foolish. Who's right?—J.R., Brooklyn, N.Y.

A: The Hare Krishna sect, which chants, rings bells, and begs for donations on the streets of U.S. cities coast to coast, is big business. It began in an East Village store front seven years ago and now the self-styled "ascetics" are talking about buying the Columbia University club building on West 43rd Street in Manhattan. It is up for sale for $2.5 million. The Hare Krishna sect tried to buy the Overseas Press Club building for $1 million, but was turned down.

Q: I hear there is a love scene which leaves nothing to the imagination in the new Julie Christie movie. Did she and co-star Donald Sutherland fake it?—J.E., New York, N.Y.

A: You refer to "Don't Look Now," directed by Nicholas Roeg, an upcoming film of such explicit sexuality it will have to tango with the new pornography rulings. To answer your question—no, Miss Christie and Mr. Sutherland did not fake it. What you will see on screen is what they did.

Q: Do you remember Caroline Kennedy's pony called Macaroni? Does she still have this pet?—L.D., Carmel, N.Y.

A: Caroline has outgrown the pony and he was given to the Steve Smiths for their children. Poor Macaroni was left out in

New Jersey at a stable where he ate too much and didn't get any exercise. Now that he's being boarded out in East Hampton, Long Island, as a mount for the Smith children, he's getting back into shape.

Q: I love that wonderful actress Diana Sands, who did "The Owl and the Pussycat" on Broadway and was in the movie, "The Landlord." What is she doing now?—G. L., St. Albans, N.Y.

A: Sadly, Diana Sands is desperately ill in Manhattan's Memorial Hospital. Friends of the much-beloved actress are all praying for her.

QUESTION YOU NEVER ASKED: Are there two songs titled "The Morning After"? Yes, Maureen McGovern's hit was written with Barbra Streisand in mind in the late Sixties. While the writers waited for Barbra to make up her mind, another song about the Watts riot was rushed out with the same title. Finally, five years later the writers of the first "Morning After" put their song into the film "The Poseidon Adventure" where it won an Oscar and ultimately hit the top on the charts.

Q: Whatever happened to Sir Oswald Mosely, the British Fascist? Is he dead?—P.R.,

Providence, R.I.

A: No, the almost 77-year-old Mosley is spending his 23rd year in exile in France. The leader of the British Fascist Party in the troubled Thirties went to prison during World War II. He is allowed to visit Britain and frequently returns. He says something terrible will have to happen in England for the government to go right. He has drawn up contingency plans for helping Britain should the mother country ever call on him. Not bloody likely.

Ohio Woman Welcome Guest At This Motel

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — An Ohio woman returned a small bar of soap to a Nashville motel Tuesday with a letter of apology saying she had no intention of stealing it.

"Enclosed you will find this bar of soap," wrote Mrs. Ida Valentine, of Ironton, Ohio. "I found it in my purse. I put it in my purse by mistake. Please forgive me."

It cost the 54-year-old widow 25 cents postage to return the soap. It cost the Matador Motel less than two cents.

"I didn't intend to steal it," Mrs. Valentine explained. "I was picking things off the wash basin in the motel room and I put it in my purse."

Bill Maxwell, general manager of the motel said "It's refreshing to find an honest person."

"It would tickle us to death if our other guests took only the small bars of soap," Maxwell said.

He said he would like to receive letters like Mrs. Valentine's from guests who this year have made off with seven color television sets, 2,700 water glasses, 2,400 bath towels, 2,100 face towels, 3,600 wash cloths, 30 pillows and 17 bed spreads.

Doubt Over Preference Signal

By Oswald and James Jacoby

East sees that if West shifts to a heart at trick two, then eventually East will be able to give him a heart ruff for the fourth defensive trick.

He plays his queen of diamonds! Normally this would ask partner to continue diamonds and force dummy to ruff but after a little study it is easy for West to see that there is no future in forcing dummy to ruff.

Therefore, West reasons that East wants him to lead a heart. West isn't too happy about this, but if West is a good partner he does just that. East takes his ace and leads a second heart.

West can't ruff that, but when a trump is led East hops right up with his ace and leads his third and last heart to give that ruff.

As you can see, this isn't simple, but you can follow a fairly general rule here which is that when it is clear that the play of a high card does not invite a continuation it asks for the lead of the higher side suit.

In certain situations the suit preference signal is likely to be effective when a shift to the higher suit is desired.

West opens the king of diamonds against South's four-spade contract.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Thomas Jefferson wrote in 1814, "I am mortified to be told that in America a question about the sale of a book can be carried before the civil magistrate... Are we to have a censor whose imprimatur shall say what books may be sold, and what we may buy? ... Shall a layman, simple as ourselves, set up his reason as the rule for what we are to read? ... It is an insult to our citizens to question whether they are rational beings or not."

The Encyclopaedia Britannica is the most comprehensive encyclopedia published today. The World Almanac says. Its current 24-volume edition contains about 26,380 pages, and some 36,674,000 words. The World Almanac notes. It was first published in Edinburgh, Scotland, in 1768, and was issued in 100 weekly installments, and in a 3-volume edition of 2,670 pages.

REMINDER OF VIOLENCE—A young boy with a Chilean flag in his hand looks at a burned out car in front of the La Moneda Presidential Palace in Santiago. # Senate to Vote For Kissinger WASHINGTON (UPI) — Henry Kissinger has won the Senate Foreign Relations Committee's approval as secretary of state, but many policy differences remain between them.

The committee, by a vote of 16 to 1, Tuesday endorsed the 50-year-old Harvard professor's nomination, with only Sen. George McGovern, D-S.D., dissenting.

Senate confirmation by an equally overwhelming margin is expected later this week, in time for Kissinger to be sworn in and begin his new duties with a speech to the United Nations next week.

Chairman J. William Fulbright, D-Ark., said the committee's approval of Kissinger was in no sense an endorsement of the administration's past or present policies, but an expression of hope that the breach between Congress and the executive branch can be repaired. He said the committee took on faith Kissinger's assurances that it will be fully consulted on major decisions of the future.

Kissinger was the President's key advisor on the war and his emissary to the Vietnam peace talks in the stormy four-year period of estrangement with Congress over Indochina.

Fulbright warned that there were still many outstanding differences with the administration, principally the fight over the need for new strategic weapons in a period of rising detente with the Soviet Union. Beyond Kissinger's promise for full consultation, he noted there was no structure for resolving fundamental differences with the administration.

Kissinger has firmly opposed war powers legislation now awaiting final action in Congress—and a veto by President Nixon—to bar commitment of U.S. troops without direct authority from Congress.

In several outstanding foreign policy questions, Kissinger and Fulbright already have found themselves in alliance. These include the question of trade with the Soviet Union, which both believe should not be dependent on internal reforms in that country, and U.S. policies of even-handedness in the Middle East.

But on such question as the maintenance of U.S. troops in Europe, the level of U.S. military assistance overseas and the continued investment in overseas bases, the prospect is for continued differences between Kissinger and the committee.

Americans Reported Safe in Chile

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite thousands of arrests, the United States does not expect the military junta ruling Chile to engage in a blood bath, according to a high government official.

Americans caught in the convulsive overthrow of the Marxist Allende government evidently will be free to go home when the airports are opened, probably on Saturday, the official said in an interview.

Although a couple have been detained, the U.S. embassy in Santiago reports Americans generally are safe.

The military officers running Chile are considered here to be responsible professionals without the yen to engage in politics that is common in some other Latin American countries.

At the same time, the official said, they are likely to rule with a firm hand and to deal sternly with Chilean and other leftists found with caches of arms.

The Pinochet junta apparently will gain U.S. recognition on the theory that diplomatic relations do not necessarily imply approval of a country's political system.

Washington would be vastly surprised if the new regime reversed the nationalization policy that led to the expropriation of copper mines and other vast properties owned by American interests. This policy is deeply rooted in Chilean history, predating the late President Salvador Allende.

In fact, Chile's economic future is thought to rest primarily on effective operation of the mines.

Israel Votes Germanys In

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — Israel recalled the "grim memories" of the Nazi era, but in the end Ambassador Joseph Tekoah went along with the rest of the U.N. General Assembly and voted for the resolution.

The assembly admitted East and West Germany at the opening of its 28th annual session Tuesday as well as the newly independent Bahamas, raising to 135 the number of U.N. member nations.

West German Foreign Minister Walter Scheel and East German Foreign Minister Otto Winzer were scheduled to address the assembly today, along with a score of other speakers welcoming the new members.

Tuesday's admission came by acclamation after Israel and Guinea, the only voices of objection, expressed reservations.

Israel opposed the entrance of East Germany accusing the Communist nation of ignoring German "historical responsibility" for Nazi atrocities. Guinea expressed doubts about the admission of West Germany.

"The grim memories are indelible," Tekoah said. "It was only three decades ago that six million human beings were systematically annihilated merely because they were Jews....The Jewish people will not forget. The United Nations must not forget."

Tekoah, however, said he would vote for the resolution because both Germanys were included in the measure.

Jeanne Martin Cisse, Guinea's ambassador, said she would go along with West Germany's admission for the same reason despite several African objections.

Egyptian Ambassador Ahmed Essmat Abdel Meguid rose in the assembly to challenge Tekoah's comments. "It is strange that Israel, which has violated so many United Nations resolutions, should oppose the admission of any state," he said.

U.S. Ambassador John Scali, noting that although the United Nations had grown from 51 to 135 members since its founding in 1945, said "it was not until today that the organization could be said to even approach the goal of universality."

Opinion Poll Favors Peron

BUENOS AIRES (UPI) — Juan Peron's own opinion poll predicts the former Argentine leader will get nearly two-thirds of the vote next Sunday in special elections for the presidency.

The poll published Tuesday said voters would give Peron 64.5 per cent of the vote and 33 per cent would go to three other candidates. It said 2.5 per cent of those asked had not made up their mind.

The poll was conducted by the Justicialist Doctrine Institute, a branch of Peron's political movement, and was based on interviews with 427,789 people.

One of Peron's presidential opponents, however, said Monday he expected the election to end without a decisive majority, forcing a runoff.

"I believe there is a notable cross-over of voters which will mean the need for a second round," said Ricardo Balbin, head of the Radical party.

Peron's poll, however, reinforced predictions of most political observers, who viewed Peron's return to power as a near certainty.

Peron, 77, who served as president from 1946 until being ousted in a 1955 military coup, ended 18 years of exile in Spain last July and returned to Argentina.

From his home in exile outside Madrid, Peron engineered Hector J. Campora's victorious presidential race last March against the same opponents running in Sunday's special vote.

Campora resigned during the summer, saying he wanted Peron to run the government, and interim President Raul Lastiri called the new election.

Peron has not left his villa for the campaign trail, saying, "What are we going to campaign for if everything is going so well?"

His third wife, Isabel, Peron's vice presidential candidate and a former nightclub dancer, has barnstormed through the provinces and Buenos Aires in the last few weeks.

Parliament May Be Dissolved By Swedish King

STOCKHOLM (UPI) — King Carl XVI Gustaf, Sweden's new 27-year-old monarch, may be forced to dissolve parliament and call new elections, political sources said today.

It could be the first and perhaps last political act of Carl Gustaf before the legislature strips him of his remaining powers and establishes a totally symbolic monarchy.

Carl Gustaf, who ascended to the monarchy on the death last Saturday of his grandfather, King Gustaf VI Adolf, was scheduled to be officially installed on the throne today.

The installation comes at the end of five extraordinary days in which the country lost a popular monarch and held the closest election in Sweden's modern history.

Come see the '74 Oldsmobiles.

"But dad, all you said was that Cutlass Salon had reclining seats. You didn't say it came in a new coupe, too."

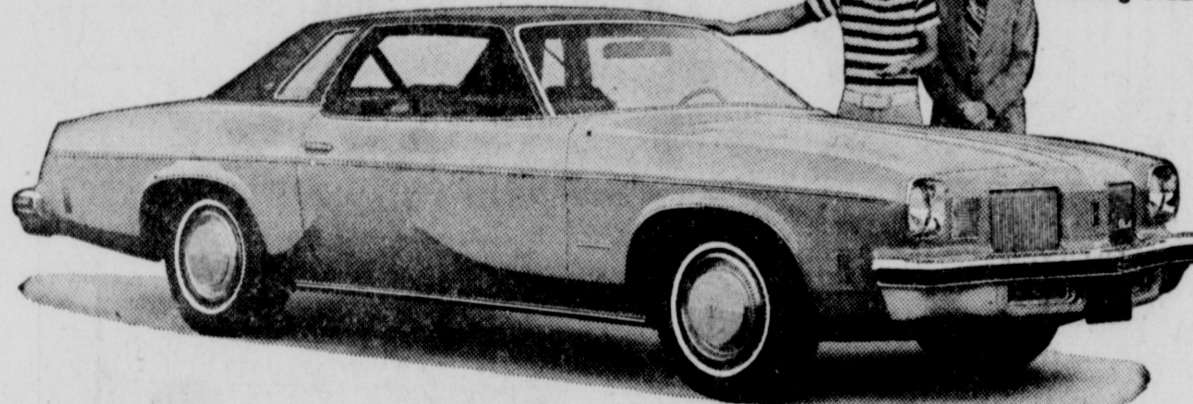

Last year Cutlass Salon was a new kind of American car—a sedan built for its roadability.

This year there's a Salon two-door coupe. Like the sedan, it has a new, lower steering ratio for quicker response. Steel-belted radial tires to grip the road. Special suspension for tight cornering.

Contoured seats that recline. And you can even order a Landau roof. Cutlass Salon. Built in the Good Touring Tradition.

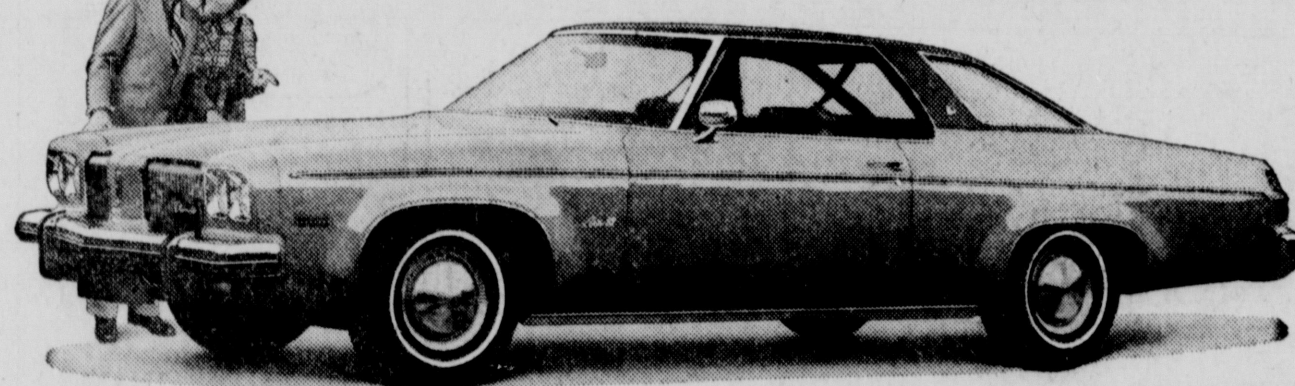

"Look Walter! Now we can get an air conditioner that filters smells."

Not only does Tempmatic regulate temperature inside your car to a preset level, it also charcoal filters the air. The filter acts to reduce many offensive odors from the air entering the car. It's available on all full-size Oldsmobiles. The '74 Delta 88 coupe has a brand new roofline. Hydraulic bumper systems, front and rear. And underneath—a suspension system that's as tough as ever. Olds Delta 88. It's really put together. More than just another pretty car.

"Hey! I didn't know we could get these new little windows in the Toronado."

Order a Toronado with an opera roof and you get opera windows and a padded canopy of oxen-grain vinyl. You can also order a new interior with rich velour upholstery, a high-energy ignition system, and True-Track braking.

The 1974 Toronado has a new instrument panel with a message center that lights up to warn you when certain things such as your gas, oil pressure, seat belts, etc., require your attention; there's even an exceptionally accurate digital clock, with quartz-crystal controlled movement. Front-wheel drive Toronado. Engineering can be beautiful.

Stop in at your Olds dealer's.

He's got surprises for every member of the family in all the other '74's, too: Ninety Eight Regency, Cutlass S and Supreme, Omega and station wagons.
